FRANK REEDER, STATE CHAIRMAN, SEES SITUATION

Talks With Quay and Learns Why Elkin Was Discarded.

WISHES TO KEEP OUT OF CONTEST

If He Must Take Part in It, He Probably Will Side With the Party Leaders.

NO CANDIDATE WILL BE THRUST FORWARD

That Is the Conclusion Reached at a Conference in Washington—Convention to Be Free to Make Its Own Choice—Northwest Opposes Elkin.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.

Gen. Frank Reeder of Easton, Republican state chairman and also Pennsylvania commissioner of banking, arrived here this forenoon and held conferences with Senators Quay and Penrose, Clerk McDowell of the house and several members of the delegation in the house. Late this afternoon he joined Gov. Stone and party on their special train en route to the Charleston exposition.

As state chairman of the party, Gen. Reeder has so far been neutral in the fight between the friends of Attorney General Elkin on one side and Senators Quay and Penrose on the other, regarding the governorship; but he now realizes that the time has come when he may be called upon to declare his position.

Learning How the Land Lays.

His visit here today was to ascertain from the senators their complete plans for opposing the nomination of Mr. Elkin, and on the way to Charleston he will hear the Elkin side of the quarrel from Gov. Stone.

To your correspondent Gen. Reeder said he had known for some time that the nomination of Mr. Elkin for governor would endanger a number of the congressional nominees in the state, but that he had believed until today that Mr. Elkin could be elected and that Senator Penrose could be re-elected. The information that he had received from the senators satisfied him that the opposition to Elkin is of greater proportions than he had estimated. He was not certain, from hearing Gov. Stone, what the other side claims.

Now Leaning Against Elkin.

The Elkin people had been claiming that Gen. Reeder would align himself with them, and they have been expecting thereby to secure a great deal of aid, but your correspondent, from information received today, is of the opinion that Gen. Reeder will be found in opposition to Mr. Elkin if he is forced to make a decision. He would prefer to remain aloof, but will not hesitate to declare his agreement with Senators Quay and Penrose when the time comes.

Insurance Commissioner Durham arrived here tonight, en route for Hot Springs, Va., and with Senator Penrose and Representative Bingham spent some time with Senator Quay. Mr. Durham is to be absent about ten days, and the conference was to agree upon the plan of campaign to be carried on.

No Choice to Be Urged.

The quartet indulged in some figuring, and were satisfied that at least two-thirds of the delegates to the state convention would be opposed to the nomination of Mr. Elkin and in favor of a candidate who could unite the party. It was practically decided not to urge any candidate for governor at the present time, but to leave it to the rank and file of the party to send to the convention their best men.

Collector Brown, of Erie, and County Chairman Hay, of Erie county, arrived here tonight and conferred with the leaders. They reported that the entire northwestern section of the state would send uninstructed delegates of a decidedly anti-Elkin tinge. Erie county would welcome a straight contest over the matter, as the Republicans are all loyal friends of Senator Quay, as has been shown on many occasions.

T. Larry Eyre, superintendent of public buildings at Harrisburg, also arrived tonight to confer with Representative Butler. Mr. Eyre said his opinion is unchanged. He believes in the candidacy of Mr. Elkin and would remain as one of his supporters until the convention meets, when he expects to see the nomination of his favorite.

CHARLES W. METZGAR.

Durham Has No Choice.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 15.—(Special.)—Insurance Commissioner Durham and his friend, Joseph Klemmer, mercantile appraiser, left tonight for a week's rest at Hot Springs, Va. Mr. Durham, before leaving, was asked who, in his opinion, was the most available candidate for governor. He declined to express a preference for any of the men yet named. His manner indicated that the race is an open one, and that the winner would be a vote-getter, a man acceptable to all Republicans.

The Stone-Elkin combine finds itself in a very embarrassing position because of the Quay-Durham attitude. Their failure to name their choice—if they have one—is very exasperating to the Stone crowd, which finds itself without an object for abuse and villification.

Connell's Senatorial Aspirations.

There was an interesting development today which bears upon the strenuous newspaper support now being given Mr. Elkin by Congressman William Connell of Scranton. Mr. Connell is a man of great wealth. He has long cherished the ambition of rounding out his career with a term in the United States senate. When Col. Quay was a candidate for re-election

COURT-MARTIAL FOR GEN. SMITH AND OFFICERS

The President Declares Barbarity in War Must Be Ended.

STRICT ORDERS SENT CHAFFEE IN MANILA

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—Brutality of American troops toward Filipinos must instantly cease. Those guilty of it, whether generals or privates, will be at once arrested and court-martialed.

This was the declaration made by President Roosevelt at the meeting of the cabinet today. Immediately upon the close of the meeting a cable instruction was sent to Maj. Gen. Chaffee ordering, if the facts justify it, the trial by court-martial of Brig.-Gen. Jacob H. Smith. The court-martial of Maj. Edwin F. Glenn, Eighteenth infantry; Lieut. Conger, Eighteenth infantry, and Capt. and Assistant Surgeon Lyon, was also ordered. Other officers of the army guilty of torturing Filipinos will be brought to trial. Capt. James Ryan, Ninth cavalry, will undergo investigation for alleged barbarous treatment of natives.

Gardener's Charges to Be Probed.

In addition Gen. Chaffee has been directed to make a thorough and most searching inquiry into the charges of Gov. Gardener of the province of Tayabas.

This action is the direct result of the facts which have been brought out by the investigation of the senate committee on the Philippines and by the court-martial of Maj. Waller.

By order of Secretary Root Adjt.-Gen. Corbin today cabled these instructions to Gen. Chaffee at Manila:

On February 19 a letter was sent you enclosing for investigation copy of charges made by Gov. Gardener of Tayabas province, which contained general allegations of cruelties practiced by troops on natives and generally of an insolent and brutal attitude of the army toward natives.

Military Under Civil Authority.

On the 4th of March a cable dispatch was sent you directing disciplinary measures to produce obedience to the president's instructions, subordinating military officers to civil government in pacific provinces and instructing you to relieve Maj. Edwin F. Glenn and Capt. James A. Ryan from duty and order them to Manila to await investigation into their conduct, in accordance with instructions to follow by mail.

On the 24th of March instructions were mailed you containing statement of charges against these officers and Gen. Jacob H. Smith, as the basis of the investigation ordered by the cable of March 4.

Further instructions in both matters are required by the following facts:

Press dispatches state that upon the trial of Maj. Waller of the Marine corps testimony was given by Waller, corroborated by other witnesses, that Gen. Jacob H. Smith instructed him to kill and burn; that the more he killed and burned the better pleased Gen. Smith would be; that it was no time to take prisoners, and that when Maj. Waller asked Gen. Smith to define the age limit for killing he replied, "Everything over 10."

If such testimony was given and the facts can be established you will place Gen. Smith on trial by court martial.

COLUMBIA LOOKS TO CARNEGIE FOR A SPLENDID GIFT

Report That the Ironmaster Will Bestow About a Million on the University.

EXACT AMOUNT UNKNOWN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 15.—Public announcement will be made after the official installation ceremonies in Columbia college of a munificent money gift to that institution by Andrew Carnegie, according to information which reaches the Press, and which that paper will print tomorrow (Wednesday). The exact amount is known only to the president and to the board of trustees, but there is good reason to believe that it is not far short of $1,000,000. This will be more than sufficient to build a college hall, a chapel or dormitories, to which purpose the gift is to be applied.

Mr. Carnegie up to this time has given nothing to Columbia, and it is thought that when his contribution is announced its size will surprise the members of the faculty as well as the students. Mr. Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller will be guests of the university on Saturday, and the presence of the great ironmaster is regarded as an indication that Columbia is about to be remembered.

President Nicholas Murray Butler declined, through his secretary, to discuss the subject in any way or to confirm or deny the story that the amount of the donation was to be made public.

SERIOUS HITCH IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

British Cabinet Refuses Boer Request for an Armistice Pending Conference.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, April 16.—The Daily Mail in its issue of this morning says it understands a serious hitch has occurred in the peace negotiations in South Africa. The cabinet council has decided to refuse a strongly-worded request from the Boer leaders at Pretoria for an armistice pending the negotiations.

This alone is not likely to cause the Boers to withdraw from the conference, says the Daily Mail, but what threatens to stop the negotiations is the fact that the government declines to place the later Cape rebels on the same footing as the burghers with respect to amnesty, and is not inclined to withdraw the banishment proclamation.

These features are regarded by the Boers as two cardinal points in the irreducible minimum of terms which Lord Milner went to Pretoria to ascertain.

KNOX SET THE BALL ROLLING ON BEEF SOME TIME SINCE

House Committee Finds It Unnecessary to Ask Him for More Information.

RETAILERS THINNING OUT

Washington, D. C., April 15.—A letter from Attorney General Knox relative to the beef trust was made public today by Representative Ray of New York, chairman of the house committee on judiciary. In view of the attorney general's letter, the judiciary committee decided without division to recommend that the resolution of Representative Thayer of Massachusetts, asking the attorney general what steps he had taken against the beef trust, lie on the table.

The report quotes Mr. Ray's letter, dated April 12, to the attorney general, in which the following questions are asked:

Knox Answers Questions.

First—Has your attention been called to the matter alleged in house resolution 203, a copy of which is annexed?

Second—Have you been requested to take any official action in the matter?

Third—Have you any evidence of the existence of such a combination?

The attorney general, in a letter of the same date, answers the questions as follows:

First—It has not, except so far as it is a matter of general notoriety.

Second—I have not.

Third—None that could be classed as legal evidence.

It is proper, I think, however, to add that owing to the positive, oft-repeated and circumstantial nature of the allegations, that the law is being flagrantly violated, I directed some time ago a thorough investigation to be made by one of the district attorneys of the United States for the purpose of ascertaining whether in fact such combination existed, and whether, if so, its operations were in violation of any federal statute.

Prices of All Food Forced Up.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 15.—(Special.)—In cornering the meat market the beef trust has indirectly caused an advance in the price of nearly every staple article of food. Unable to buy meat because of the prohibitive prices asked for it, the poor have been purchasing other kinds of food, and the increase in demand has been followed by an increase in price. Butter, eggs and potatoes have shown the most marked advance, but fish and smoked meats are selling at more than normal rates.

Of the 2,000 butchers in this city, it is estimated that at least 200 have closed their shops in the last few weeks. These are mostly keepers of small stores, who have found it impossible to sell meat at the prices they have been obliged to ask.

BIG SENSATION IS CREATED BY LICENSE COURT

Refusal to Grant Privileges in Some Cases Unexpected.

MANY ALL-NIGHT PLACES MUST CLOSE

Since the late Judge J. W. F. White, in the early days of the Brooks law, granted less than 100 saloons licenses in Pittsburgh, no sensation equal to yesterday's has been caused by the liquor license court. The list handed down by Judge R. S. Frazer contained many surprises. Several licenses were refused prominent saloons, and considerable astonishment was caused by the number held over.

Among those refused were Fred S. Avery, proprietor of the Griswold hotel; J. C. Dellenbach, proprietor of the Hotel Victoria; M. J. Thornton of Diamond square and W. S. Porter of Diamond street. For the second time in its history Newell's hotel, now operated by C. F. Kirschler and F. H. Tooker, found its license held over. Among the other licenses held over were those applied for by W. B. Graff of Fifth avenue and John J. Cavanaugh of Diamond street.

Order Was Premature.

Some of the unlucky ones were so sure of securing a license that they had even ordered supplies for the following season. Dellenbach and Avery had ordered $3,200 worth of wines from a German importer, who obligingly canceled the order when told that his customers would have to quit the saloon business on April 30.

In the saloons affected the interest excited was intense, as the nature of the judges' decision became public just about lunch time. At Newell's the hundreds who take luncheon there at noon were much disappointed to learn that from May 1 until May 10 the bar will be closed and water and soft drinks will be the only thirst quenchers available.

Travelers who knew that on arriving after midnight in the city they could go to Newell's and get a meal at any hour will be much disappointed in the future.

Newell's Closed Early.

If any of them were about this morning they were disagreeably surprised, for promptly at 11:45 o'clock last night the big front doors were closed, and not only the bar ceased doing business as usual, but the restaurant was shut up tight as well. The cooks and waiters had been notified, and so the night shift put in only a half day.

F. H. Tooker, a member of the firm, last night said that from now on it would be the policy of the hotel to close at 11:45 and not open up again until 5 a. m. During the time the new license is held over, from May 1 till May 10, the restaurant will be closed and if the new license is granted the same policy will no doubt continue. Mr. Tooker had nothing to say in criticism of the court and remarked that there was nothing to do but to bow to the decision and make the best of it.

W. S. Porter thought that his license was refused because he sold after midnight. He had done some trade with men who work at night, he said, and it was for their convenience that he had kept open. Ever since the last license court he had not sold liquor to women.

No Surprise in McGovern's Case.

The refusal to grant Charles C. McGovern a license in the Thirty-fourth ward did not create much surprise. There are saloons in the ward, but not in that portion where McGovern wished to do business.

Charles Schutte did not get a license for No. 306 Federal street, Allegheny. Schutte rented a room in his building to a Chinese restaurant, and it is supposed that is why the court refused him a license. Charles E. Wolfendale's application for a license at No. 207 to 211 Federal street was held over. Wolfendale has had his stand for many years.

Many of those who were refused or held over passed through easy examinations, and had no inkling of the fate in store for them.

(The complete list of the licenses granted, withdrawn and refused may be found on page 2.)

PADEREWSKI'S OPERA ATTRACTS LARGE AND SATISFIED AUDIENCE

Though Not So Brilliant as That of the Opening Night, the Gathering Was More Representative of the City.

LONG INTERMISSIONS WERE SOURCE OF MUCH ENJOYMENT

"Manru," Paderewski's long-heralded opera, was heard in Pittsburgh last night. The mere announcement that it would be presented by the Maurice Grau Opera company in Duquesne garden was a lodstone for one of the largest and most representative assemblages ever witnessed in the city.

It was not so brilliant a gathering socially as was seen on the previous night, though society was well to the front. It was composed of the people to whom the name of the composer is a household word and whose "Minuet" is as familiar as the equally popular "Intermezzo."

It was an audience composed in large part of musicians and students and the side aisles above the seats were thronged while the rear of the palm garden was crowded with those who stood.

A Notable Gathering.

It was a notable gathering of people who never failed to express their delight in the effective climaxes that are to be found in this first opera of the celebrated Polish pianist. Nearly all of the boxes were filled, the box parties almost invariably being composed of the younger members of families of social prominence in the two cities.

The opera with its flavor of strong national tendencies, its setting, a scene in Poland, and its music, rich with the strains of the folk-songs of the patriotic Fatherland, found a hearty acceptance in the great audience which listened to it last night.

From the raising of the curtain it was ready to enjoy and heartily did it show its appreciation. The orchestra, with Walter Damrosch conducting, added to the prestige of the occasion and Pittsburgh was enthusiastic over its first hearing of "Manru."

Long Intermission Enjoyed.

The well-defined acts were each followed by long intermissions, when the palm garden was sought by hundreds, the tables surrounded with gay little parties and the merits of the opera discussed amid tinkling of glasses and the murmur of hundreds of voices. Though exquisite gowns were to be seen in the boxes and throughout the main main body of the house, there was a somewhat less brilliant general effect than was observed on the opening night.

A distinctive feature of the intermissions was the continuous reception at the different boxes on both sides of the garden.

The most noticeable was that at the Westinghouse box, where the guest of honor was Dr. von Holleben, the German ambassador to the United States, who arrived last evening and will be a guest at "Solitude," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse, in Homewood, until Thursday night.

Other Members at Party.

Among the other occupants of the two boxes filled by the Westinghouse party were Prof. John A. Brashear, the Rev. William J. Holland and Robert Pitcairn. Among the many visitors to the boxes during the intermission were Judge Joseph Buffington and Samuel Harden Church.

A slight change in the cast for "Manru" was necessitated last evening. Miss Fritzi Scheff was unable to sing, and "Asa" was sung by Mme. Camille Seygard. When it was found that Miss Scheff could not sing Mme. Camille Seygard studied the part, that "Manru" might be given in Pittsburgh as announced. Mme. Seygard has also consented to sing tonight the role of "Cherubini" in "The Marriage of Figaro," in which Miss Scheff was also cast.

ORCHESTRATION THE MAINSTAY OF "MANRU"

Opera Is a Masterly Elaboration of a Powerful Theme, but Gives Little Promise of Popularity.

Last night's opera was fraught with a special and abiding interest, as being the first presentation of a new opera in Pittsburgh. "Manru," when given in New York, brought forth no definite opinions from the critics. All said of it was vague, uncertain, crediting it with beauty, but invariably modifying any statement of its greatness. Hence it was really new to Pittsburgh and its very newness brought to its hearing a different spirit from any called forth by the other operas.

Taken as a whole, the opera is one that will require many hearings ere it can become popular, in the ordinary acceptance of the word. There are absolutely no abiding melodies, save perhaps the gypsies' march in the third act; there are few intensely dramatic moments and there is nothing openly, startlingly new in the treatment of a very old and well-worn theme.

There are few indeed who will take the score and interpret it literally from beginning to end, through all its musical telling of the unfolding history; there are fewer still who will approach it in the studious spirit which may grasp its psychological meaning, tracing the underlying motives from which the consequences spring as naturally as flower from seed, and following the development of events as their sequence requires that they be followed; not in awe and wonder at what happens, but in perfect understanding that it must happen because the law of cause and effect designs it so from the beginning.

The libretto is plainly the work of a master mind, a thinker among thinkers, and in the poetic beauty of its German phrasing no less than in the story itself evidences a power of far greater caliber than is usually given to the making of librettos.

The orchestration is wonderfully rich and vivid, showing in its richness and in its faithful depicting of the emotions and thoughts of the actors how deeply its composer drank of the Wagnerian spring ere he set his hand to the making of the score. In fact, reading the story and listening to the orchestra presents to the mind all that is needed to complete the impression of the story. The vocalization in almost every particular is subservient to the orchestration, in parts falling far below the forceful beauty that carries it along and only at times moving on equal plane. In the second act, where before his hut and anvil, Manru the gypsy feels the irresistible longing for his wandering life splendid vocal effect is reached, and more especially where he speaks definitely of his longings and gives one reasons therefor, opening vistas into a realm of feelings and emotions utterly unknown to the colder natures of the conventional world. Both words and music in this brief solo attain the height of real poetry, than which no greater exists.

In the passionate duet between him and his wife a climax of striking intensity is attained, but in all else than these the part of the singers merges imperceptibly into the background instead of standing out brilliantly before it, while the orchestra dominates.

The solos are not convincing; they often fall short of the effect aimed at, and not infrequently have the appearance of non-necessity.

The first act, showing the village people at holiday-making, is so full of restless activity that it tires the attention, and this very activity obscures the work of the principals. It may be likened to tedious descriptive matter in a dramatic tale—we would like to skip it if we could. It is logically one with the story in the libretto, but the music is too restless, too unforceful, too vague to carry conviction or to hold attention.

The greatest dramatic interest of the opera centers on the effect of the love potion given to Manru by his wife, and its effect on his wild nature.

The drink is poured from the bottle to the accompaniment of a delicious gurgling melody, which may be aptly compared to a charming bit of pleasantry in the score and immediately on drinking it his dying love is fired anew, passion thralls him and the longing for his old life fades before the near and real delight of companionship with a beautiful woman.

All through this scene, which is tender and impassioned in turn, the music given the tenor is masterly in its conception and the scene, beautifully pictured, combined with orchestral matter truly ravishing in its effect, touches a real climax of operatic writing.

The last act brings in the gipsy music which is melodious and powerful, and a secondary love scene between Manru and a gipsy maid of his tribe. In this also is the beautifully depicted battle between the peace of domestic life and the unrestful fever of inherent in gipsy blood, orchestrally told, while Manru sleeps on the rocks. This, with the love scene of the second act, constitute the two moments of greatness which the opera reaches, and which may give it immortality.

Of the presentation little save the warmest praise may be voiced. Marcella Sembrich was tenderly beautiful as Ulana, and invested the music of the simple, loving wife with all the fervor that the character, a rather colorless one, permits.

The lullaby sung in the second act showed the silver quality of her upper tones so exquisitely that the audience literally held its breath until she had finished. Bandrowski, the tenor, brought from Europe by the composer to create the title part, vindicated his entire right to the selection in his first notes. His voice is powerful and penetrating, rich with the vibrating richness of youth and self-confidence and exceedingly melodious in quality. His characterization of the restless gypsy was admirable, spirited and somber by turns, and his rendition of the music was all that the most captious could ask.

Muhlmann as Oras was so nobly strong that one is forced to regret the brevity of his part, and Blas, as Jag, the gipsy fiddler, fulfilled the requirements with picturesque fidelity.

Mme. Camille Seygard took the role of Asa with an admirable effect that is intensified by the fact that she learned it in a single week. Her voice fitted beautifully the scope of the music, and her acting gave color to a rather vaguely drawn character.

Mme. Homer as Hedwig proved herself anew, if proof were needed, the understanding, careful artist, and David Bispham brought to bear on his characterization of Urok, the dwarf, all the comprehensive art of which he is master, rising at times to real greatness, especially when he emerged momentarily from his grotesque demeanor to express his love for Ulana.

The general impression left by the opera must be one of bewilderment at the richness and dominance of its orchestration.

Individual opinion may differ on its merit as an opera, but as a musical elaboration of a powerful theme, as a logical study of human acts in the environments chosen, there can be but one summary—that it is a masterly work.

The magnificent work of the orchestra was mainly responsible for the brilliant effect of the opera. A spirit vastly different from the careless laissez-faire of Monday night was evident, showing immediately the presence of a master in the conductor's chair.

Every shade of the richly varied music, every jeweled gleam of sentiment, every underlying motive was brought forth with the powerful certainty that years of Wagner interpretation have endowed Damrosch with, and to him, even in a greater degree than to the soloists, is due the splendid impression left by the opera.

AN UNUSUALLY FINE PROGRAM FOR TODAY

"Carmen" in the Afternoon and "Lohengrin" in the Evening at Duquesne Garden.

The story of "Carmen," the opera that will be sung at Duquesne garden this afternoon, as utilized by Bizet for his brilliant picture of Spanish life and love, presents a psychological study of passion which is no less absorbing to the student and philosopher than to the casual looker-on at life. To the latter the progress of the vivid story, with its heart burnings and heart breakings, its broken faith and resultant tragedy is supremely interesting because supremely real.

The unfolding of the story rests on the freedom of the heroine from conventional laws of morality. In the bewitching of the soldier she simply follows the instinct of a wild thing caged—an intelligently guided instinct, which teaches that beguiling will be more potent than force in the attainment of the desired point.

Strength Was the Victor.

In the later desertion of her lover and the turning to the man whose mastery over fierceness has set him on the pedestal which the world invariably builds for strength and courage, she again follows her instincts, thinking nothing, nay, caring nothing, for what the world will say.

The action of the deserted lover and his revenge, though not essential points in the psychological study of the character of Carmen are yet important because inspired by her.

The music follows the deeper trend of the story far more closely than is usual in opera of Gallic origin, and to one who has taken the tale to heart, the unweaving of the tangled motives which prompt Carmen's actions are of absorbing interest.

Music Rarely Beautiful.

Musically considered the opera is rarely beautiful. The most familiar bits are the Habanera, alive with the very spirit of sunny Spain and the Toreador song which embodies all that is dashing and careless, all that is free and fearless of the old race. But other than these there are some melodies unsurpassed in all the operatic list for melodic beauty. One of these is the brief march played just before the entrance of the smugglers. It is entirely orchestral and very short, but its character is such that once heard attentively it is never forgotten. The music given to Micaela is tenderly characteristic, while the smugglers' chorales seem inspired by the characters themselves, not merely written for beauty and then fitted to the requirements of the libretto.

Lohengrin Tonight.

"Lohengrin," the only Wagner opera of the Metropolitan engagement this year, which is to be presented this evening, is the most picturesque and poetic of all the Wagner operas. Very close to the heart of the master was the tradition and legend of the Holy Grail, and, though he embodied this complete only in Parsifal, he used some of its mysterious majesty to illumine his story of the Swan-Knight.

The story briefly told is thus: Elsa, princess of Brabant, is accused of murdering her young brother, and is brought to trial before Henry the king. Her accusers are Telramund and his wife, who wish to sieze the province for themselves. She protests her innocence and in despair lifts her voice after an ancient custom and calls for some knight to take on himself her defense.

Swan-Knight to the Rescue.

No one answers and she again despairs, when in the distance a light is seen and advancing over the water in a boat drawn by a swan, a knight of wondrous beauty and dignity approaches. He swears himself Elsa's champion and wins for her the victory. He then takes her for his bride, asking her only that she seek not to learn his name or origin.

She promises, but the night before the wedding she is approached by Ortrud, who pretending penitance, instils evil doubt into Elsa's mind, of the character of her lover. Accordingly, after the wedding, when the wedded pair are left alone, she implores him to reveal his true character and in grief he consents, though assuring her that her doubt has destroyed their happiness.

Clothed in Beauty and Mystery.

An attempted assassination inspired by Telramund brings matters to a climax, and, assembling the people, Lohengrin reveals himself as a knight of the Holy Grail. The swan then reappears, and he sorrowfully departs, first restoring Elsa's brother, who has been laboring under a spell, to his sister and people.

Such a wealth of imagery and poetic sentiment has Wagner draped about this beautiful legend that the opera of Lohengrin stands out among the productions of the age, gleaming with some of the supernatural light which clothes Lohengrin himself and attracting people of all tastes and classes by satisfying in a high degree that love of beauty which is a part of every human heart.

Melody Is Matchless.

The music, which is from Wagner's earlier period, has in it much of the matchless melody which he occasionally brought forth. From the philosophic voicings of the different figures in the drama these shine forth like stars, and alone would have made even an inferior production worthy of immortality. Lohengrin's farewell to his swan, commonly called the Swan song, is the first of these; later comes the beautiful bridal music, which is familiar to all the world.

The orchestration, though not as strictly modeled on Wagner's ideals of pure dramatic voicing as in the later operas, is wonderfully impressive throughout, embodying beautifully the thoughts and motives of the story and giving a setting of unexampled richness to the libretto poem.

CONFERENCE IS UNSATISFACTORY TO FAYETTE MEN

Wanted Representation in Accordance With Republican Vote.

TWO OTHERS ARE AGREED

Somerset and Greene Are Willing to Settle the Congressional Nomination at a Meeting of Three Conferees From Each County.

In the matter of nominating a Republican candidate for congress in the Twenty-third congressional district, Somerset and Greene have agreed on the conference system and Fayette refuses to accept the plan. The conference has adjourned sine die. Fayette wanted representation in accordance with the Republican vote.

The two counties are hopeful that Fayette will agree to come in. The present indications are against such action. The candidates from that county agree that they are not bound by the agreement of Greene and Somerset, and when the time comes to nominate a congressman Fayette may not go into the district conference. Harmony is needed to make the district safe for the Republicans in the fall.

Disclaim a Deal.

On the face of it one would think that Greene and Somerset had entered into a deal to control the nomination. The interested parties deny that there has been a bargain and claim that they believed the majority had the right to adopt the conference system. Fayette holds that the action must be unanimous to make the agreement binding.

Three conferees from each of the three Republican organizations met at the Monongahela house at 11 o'clock last night. It was the second conference. The counties were represented as follows: Fayette, Frank M. Fuller, H. M. Kephart and J. L. Van Swearingen; Somerset, J. A. Beckey, F. B. Black and W. W. Reitz; Greene, D. F. Walton, Thomas S. Crago and James McFerrell. Walton was president and Van Swearingen secretary of the conference.

Many Candidates.

Walton is the candidate of Green for congress and Beckey the candidate of Somerset. W. E. Crow, A. F. Cooper and R. F. Hopwood are the aspirants in Fayette. Hopwood was not here. Walton and Beckey both had votes in the conference, which the Fayette candidates did not. Walton is the only candidate from Greene, and the time for any other Greene Republican registering has expired. It is conceded by Fayette that Walton and Beckey had an unfair advantage.

At the last meeting Greene wanted the conference system and Somerset was undecided. Before the meeting last night it developed that Somerset had agreed to the Greene plan. In the conference Greene and Somerset submitted a resolution providing for three conferees from each county. Mr. Fuller, of Fayette, offered an amendment that the counties be given representation in accordance with the Republican vote for president in 1900. With one delegate for each 1,000, and an additional one for each 500 or a fraction, Fayette would have 10, Somerset 7 and Greene 3.

Amendment Voted Down.

This amendment was voted down 6 to 3, and by the same vote the original motion was adopted, Fayette serving notice that it refused to abide by the result. Somerset and Greene then voted to adjourn sine die.

After the meeting Secretary Van Swearingen testified that the resolution had been adopted by the voters of Greene and Somerset in face of the protest of Fayette that it would be bound by the action. President Walton refused to sign the paper when the conference adjourned at 1 o'clock this morning. He has it in his pocket and is considering the matter.

Fayette Men Object.

The Fayette men all say that they do not consider that they are bound by the conference. When the time comes to nominate a congressman they may not participate. The other counties believe that Fayette will come into line later and that there will be a harmonious nomination.

The Scull faction in Somerset may not feel bound by the action of the conference. Chairman Ogle, without calling the Somerset Republican county committee, appointed the three delegates to this conference. The Sculls hold that he was not empowered to do this and that the Somerset delegation has no right to sit in the conference. If the Sculls stand on their position and Fayette kicks out, the nomination of either Berkey or Walton will not be of very great value.

No Chance for Elkin.

By talks with the leaders of the three counties attending the congressional conference it was developed that John P. Elkin cannot hope to secure delegates from Fayette, Somerset or Greene. The Republicans there will go along with the state organization.

The Fayette delegation never has been pledged to Elkin. He would have got them had he been supported by the state leaders. Now that Senator Quay has declared against him the five delegates will go to another candidate.

Senator D. F. Walton of Greene says that the Republicans of his county will elect a delegate who will vote with the state organization. He says that personally he is a friend of Elkin, but it would be unwise to nominate him for governor.

Must Fight in Somerset.

The Kendall-Berkey-Kooser faction in Somerset was pledged to Elkin, as it was thought he would be the candidate supported by the state leaders. S. A. Kendall said last night that he thought Somerset would send a delegation to Harrisburg that would follow the wishes of the leaders. This means that Elkin cannot hope for the delegation unless he goes into the county and fights for them.

When the conference met here a few days ago Kendall said that his faction had about concluded a deal with George R. Scull and his friends that would mean harmony in the county. Last night he said the plans were going along all right, but admitted that George Scull had never publicly agreed to the program.

Harmony Scheme Shaky.

From other sources it was learned that the Kendall harmony scheme was likely to receive a death blow at any time. Mr. Scull and his associates are said to be waiting until Senator Quay and his associates agree on a candidate for governor and then turn in. It will probably mean a fight all along the line, including opposition for J. A. Berkey, who thinks that he is to have a clear field for congress. The opponent would probably be Harvey Berkley. Kendall would be opposed for assemblyman. In an event of this kind the Kooser faction might line up for Elkin. Kendall was inquiring last night whether it was probable that Elkin would go into each of the counties.

Those Who Were Present.

Besides the conferees and candidates there was present last night P. A. Johns and E. H. McCune of Fayette and Representative S. A. Kendall, John R. Scott and H. F. Barron of Somerset. Judge U. G. Kendall of Fairmont, W. Va., a brother of the assemblyman, was also at the Monongahela house.

The movement for late primaries in Allegheny county appears to be meeting with general favor. One or two of the candidates on the machine slate have not declared in favor of them. Col. W. E. Thompson, who wants to succeed himself as controller, says he is opposed to a change. He claims that he is not afraid to wait until September, but cannot see the use in doing it.

Recorder George M. von Bonnhorst, who is looked upon as the new leader of the machine, had a busy day at the court house yesterday. Many of the old organization men were in to see him. Recorder J. O. Brown, his rival, was receiving at city hall, but did not appear to draw the same amount of people as the Napoleon on the hill.

Brown Is for "Peace."

Brown says that they are not rivals and that they are dwellers in harmony. Most of the candidates on the machine slate were closeted with Von Bonnhorst for quite a long while yesterday afternoon. Judge W. D. Porter was present for a half hour or longer. The new boss declined to issue any proclamations on the situation.

Richard B. Scandrett is said to be the head and front of the local Elkin movement in the county. He received a large bunch of "Plow Boy" buttons, and with these opened the campaign yesterday. It has not developed whether Mr. Scandrett is to make a contest here for delegates for Elkin. Scandrett lives in Allegheny. He has been a personal friend of the attorney general for a number of years.

two years ago Mr. Connell, it is said, offered to sacrifice himself upon the senatorial altar providing Quay would abandon the fight; but Quay would not quit.

Stone and Elkin know that it costs money to run a convention. They are looking for the ways and means. Connell, it is said, has agreed to finance Elkin's fight—to become the chief "angel" in return for a promise that he (Connell) shall be slated as the Stone-Elkin candidate in opposition to Senator Penrose.

Connell Sees a Chance.

The Connell story comes from several sources, and it is said that Connell told Col. L. A. Watres very recently that there "was a chance" for him to succeed either Quay or Penrose. Stone was in Washington last night, and it is said he closed the deal with Connell.

From local sources, usually authoritative, it is learned that J. Donald Cameron will decline to become a gubernatorial candidate. Col. Watres is here tonight. He is very optimistic and is fully confident of landing the nomination. Mr. Watres' friends contend that had he not kept alive the anti-Elkin sentiment the attorney general's weakness might not have been so generally understood, and in consequence he would have received the nomination by default. They argue that the same popular sentiment which eliminated Elkin should, by logical sequence, recognize Mr. Watres' good work by making him Stone's successor.

Tower for Governor.

POTTSVILLE, PA., April 15.—(Special.)—Maj. John F. Finney, United States treasurer of Philadelphia, was in Pottsville and other parts of Schuylkill county today, and is said to have been sounding the local Republican leaders as to what support Charlemagne Tower, ambassador to Russia, who is now on his way home, would have toward getting the Pennsylvania gubernatorial nomination.

Mr. Tower is a native of Pottsville and has always been a stalwart Republican.

STRAY BULLET WOUNDS A PITTSBURGH WOMAN

Mrs. Henry Vilas, While Driving at Pasadena, Cal., Shot in the Neck by a Hunter.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PASADENA, CAL., April 15.—Mrs. Henry Vilas of Pittsburgh was seriously wounded in the neck late today by a stray bullet, fired by a boy who was hunting.

Mrs. Vilas, who is the widow of Henry T. Vilas, a son of the former Postmaster General Vilas, was driving in a covered carriage with her mother, Mrs. E. A. Ford, also of Pittsburgh, wife of the general passenger agent of the Ft. Wayne division of the Pennsylvania railroad, when the sharp report of a rifle was heard from a field to the right of the carriage. Mrs. Vilas screamed that she was shot and as soon as the driver could turn his horses it was found that she was bleeding profusely from the back of the neck. A rapid drive of nearly two miles was made back to the hotel and Mrs. Vilas, though retaining her composure, had grown very weak and was assisted to her apartments.

A surgeon quickly arrived and removed a 22-caliber bullet which had entered the flesh of the neck to a depth of one inch, passing from right to left and just escaping the spinal column. The patient did not lose consciousness and late tonight was resting quietly. The police found a boy named Ellis, who says he shot at a gopher about the time that the carriage was passing.

Mrs. Vilas is the daughter of E. A. Ford, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh. She was very well known here before her marriage to Mr. Vilas and receives much social attention on her visits to her parents.

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited.

Few are entirely free from it.

Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it.

Common indications are bunches in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

THE LAST PERIL TO RECIPROCITY IS SWEPT AWAY

Danger of Overruling the Chair on Differential Amendment Is Over.

VOTE TO BE HAD FRIDAY

Chairman Payne Today Will Move to Bring the Struggle to a Head That Evening—Beet Sugar Republicans No Catspaws for Democrats.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.

Chairman Payne of the house ways and means committee will make a motion in the house tomorrow to close general debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill and take a vote by Friday evening. The motion will be opposed by the Democrats, who do not desire limitation of debate at this time and who have the further purpose of forcing the beet sugar Republicans to show their hand in a proposition of that kind.

It is understood today that the disposition of the beet sugar Republicans is to accede to the limitation of debate proposed by Chairman Payne. There are still about 20 beet sugar men who desire to talk on the pending bill, but it is thought they can be accommodated between this time and Friday, especially if evening sessions are held, as suggested by Chairman Payne.

Democrats Oppose Night Sessions.

The Democrats are averse to holding evening sessions, but if the beet sugar men join with the house leaders they can carry through the motion tomorrow and bring the discussion to an end at the time named.

With the close of the Cuban reciprocity debate in the house today the leaders announced that all danger of the bill being weighted down with undesirable amendments is over and that they felt assured the bill would pass in the shape in which it came from the committee. As the bill in its present form is sure to command three-fourths of the vote of each side of the house its passage is certain if it successfully passes the stage when amendments can be offered.

No Catspaws for Democrats.

The only cause of anxiety heretofore has been the possibility that enough Republicans would join with the Democrats to overrule the chair and tack upon the bill an amendment to abolish the differential on refined sugar. All the energies of the leaders have been directed, therefore, to bringing pressure to bear on the recalcitrant Republicans to induce them to refrain from aiding this plan, and this evening, at the close of the session of the house, it was announced that the entire Republican delegations from Michigan and California, who constitute the head and front of the opposition, had agreed not to vote to override the ruling of the chair.

The committee on rules of the house today decided to report a special rule for the consideration of the senate amendments to the oleomargarine bill. The rule will simply provide that the house go into committee of the whole to consider the amendments. No time limit will be placed upon the debate. The rule will not be reported until the Cuban reciprocity bill is out of the way. The decision to report the rule was reached by a party vote, Speaker Henderson and Messrs. Grosvenor and Dalzell voting for it and Messrs. Richardson and Underwood against it.

Senate Committee Adopts the Depew Amendment to the Popular Election Resolution.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—The senate committee on privileges and elections today, by a majority of one, voted to amend the house resolution providing for the election of senators by direct vote of the people, by adding the amendment offered by Senator Depew. The amendment is as follows:

> The qualifications of citizens entitled to vote for United States senators and representatives in congress shall be uniform in all the states, and congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation, and to provide for the registration of citizens entitled to vote, the conduct of such elections and the certification of the result.

The committee unanimously voted down the Penrose amendment, providing that Senators shall be apportioned according to the population of the several states. Senator Burrows voted with the Democrats in opposition to the Depew provision. Otherwise the vote was strictly on party lines. The division was as follows:

Ayes—Hoar, Pritchard, McComas, Foraker, Depew, Beveridge and Dillingham—7.
Nays—Burrows, Pettus, Blackburn, Dubois, Bailey and Foster (La.)—6.

There was a general discussion of the merits of the house resolution, and when the committee adjourned it was the understanding that a vote should be reached upon it as amended at the next regular meeting of the committee on Tuesday of next week.

JACKIES FIGHT FIRE.

Yankee and British Tars Make Short Work of a Trinidad Blaze and Get an Ovation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—American jackies appear in the role of efficient fire-fighters in a report forwarded to the navy department by Capt. B. H. McCalla of the battleship Kearsarge.

While the North Atlantic squadron was lying off Port of Spain, Trinidad, March 27, fire broke out on the wharves at the yards of a big trading company. Lieut. J. M. Poyer was sent ashore with a detachment of 21 sailors and joined a British detachment sent by Capt. Campbell of H. M. S. Indefatigable in a vigorous fight against the flames. A charge of gunpowder was exploded in the huge lumber pile to make a breach and soon the flames were well under control.

The report says the American tars were always at the front, manning the nozzles of the hose and doing their share with promptness and bravery. The sailors were received in the town enthusiastically and were loudly cheered as they advanced toward the fire on the double-quick. The governor of Trinidad expressed his thanks to Admiral Higginson for the splendid aid rendered.

TO PICK OUT AN ARMY CAMP SITE

CAPT. SEIBERT LEFT LAST NIGHT FOR MT. GRETNA.

Will Carefully Look Over the Conewago Valley and Select a Portion Suitable for the Mobilization of From 20,000 to 30,000 Men.

Capt. W. P. Seibert of the local United States engineer's office left last night for eastern Pennsylvania to look over the ground with a view to recommending a site for the proposed new Pennsylvania military camp in the vicinity of the old Mt. Gretna camp for a permanent rendezvous for United States and state troops. Capt. Seibert will be gone for a week or more and will report personally at Washington en route home.

The war department contemplates buying outright 15,000 or 20,000 acres in the Conewago valley, in which the Mt. Gretna camp was located, for a permanent military camping ground. A few months ago congress appropriated $10,000 for the expense of the preliminary surveys for four main camps at central points in the country at which United States and state troops could rendezvous for field maneuvers on the scale on which they are conducted in continental countries. The idea is to provide the national and state troops with central camping grounds where they can be mobilized, 20,000 or 30,000 at the same time, to carry on maneuvers on a large scale.

Field Experience Desired.

Such a camp would be nearer actual service than anything the state troops could secure in their state camps. The commissary and quartermaster's departments and the engineer and signal corps would also obtain actual field experience. The idea adopted by congress is simply following out the lessons of the Spanish-American war.

Capt. Seibert's instructions are to look over the ground and select a tract that would be suitable for a general encampment. The government does not desire a beautifully level tract, but rather a rough, difficult country like that surrounding Mt. Gretna, where the troops can undergo experiences similar to what they would encounter in the field. Capt. Seibert is not limited, however, to any particular section in making his recommendation. He is simply to scan the country and make his report.

Trip a Reconnoissance.

His present trip is in the nature of a reconnoissance. The detailed survey of the tract he selects will come later.

The tract must be large enough to accommodate the troops of five or six states, including, probably, New York, New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania. One of the things that Capt. Seibert must pay particular attention to is the water supply. That must be of the best, and it is believed it can be obtained in the Conewago valley. That section is also well provided with railroad facilities, the Pennsylvania, the Lackawanna and the Reading railroads all being within easy marching distance of any point in the valley.

The war department officials expect to get the project in shape for presentation to congress a year from the present. The idea is to buy the sites for the proposed new camps outright. Capt. Seibert will stop off at Washington on his trip over for further instructions.

PENNED UP NINE MONTHS.

Chinamen Awaiting Deportation Threaten Riot if They Are Not Shipped or Turned Lose.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—The treasury department has received from the collector of customs at San Francisco a telegram saying 98 Chinamen in detention sheds on steamship docks at San Francisco threaten violence if they are not either taken back to China by the steamship companies or are allowed their freedom. Several Chinamen who were detained have managed to escape, and the case is giving the treasury department some trouble.

In answer to the report of the collector, Assistant Secretary Taylor today wired him to make a written demand on the steamship companies for the deportation of the detained Chinamen, and to further notify the companies that the treasury department will prosecute them for every Chinaman who has escaped. The Chinamen who are detained in the sheds have been held there from three to nine months awaiting deportation, and the steamship companies have done nothing to send them away. They came to San Francisco ostensibly for transit through to Mexico, but the immigration officials had reason to doubt the good faith of those looking after their destination, which was believed to be this country, and the Chinamen were prevented from landing and ordered to be deported.

The steamship companies have a case pending in the supreme court which they believe may settle the right of the treasury to require them to deport Chinamen, and that is one reason why they are holding the Chinamen.

M'KINLEY'S WISH FULFILLED.

President Roosevelt Renominated the Postmaster at Lodi, O.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—(Special.)—As the late President McKinley intended to reappoint Postmaster Turner of Lodi, O., President Roosevelt will carry out his wishes, and the renomination will be sent to the senate soon.

From information received by the president on his Charleston trip, he has reappointed Miss Maggie M. Moore to the postoffice at Yorkville, S. C., although she was not recommended by the local Republican organization. Miss Moore has held this office since 1893.

New postoffices have been established in West Virginia as follows: Humes, Jackson county, Okey J. Weakley, postmaster; Mannering, Mercer county, William Crump, postmaster.

The office at Hanerville, Meigs county, will be discontinued on April 15.

A VOTE ON CHINESE EXCLUSION TODAY

One of the Fangs of the Bill Extracted by Two Amendments. Speech by Penrose.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—The debate on the Chinese exclusion bill was practically concluded today, and voting on the bill and amendments will begin at 1 o'clock tomorrow. By general consent a vote was taken today on two important amendments offered by Mr. Fairbanks of Indiana, striking out the definition as to Chinese students and teachers, and they were agreed to without division. These changes were made with a view to reconciling some of the opposition to the measure which has been directed against the rigid restrictions on students and teachers and the unnecessary inconvenience this would impose on the educated Chinese classes coming to this country. They were approved by Committee Chairman Penrose.

Mr. Turner of Washington state asserted that politics had crept into the discussion, and that most of the members of the majority were opposed to the bill. This brought out a sharp rejoinder from Mr. Spooner, who maintained that politics had not figured in the discussion, and that the opposition to the present bill was due entirely to its conflict with the treaty, and not because of any opposition to Chinese exclusion, which is an established doctrine of the government.

Mr. Penrose spoke in support of the bill. He declared that the only means of securing effective exclusion is through the senate bill or that passed by the house, and he characterized the other measures as subterfuges emanating from those opposed to exclusion. The principle of exclusion had become a national necessity, he said, for the protection of the American home and family and for the preservation of American civilization.

Mr. Penrose maintained that our commercial expansion in the Pacific would in no way be retarded by the exclusion of a non-assimilative people like the Chinese. Senators would deceive themselves, Mr. Penrose said, if they believe a simple extension of the present exclusion law would meet the necessities of the situation. If effective exclusion is not provided now, he said, a demand would come not only from the Pacific coast, but also from the entire country, which would overwhelm the opposition to exclusion and would result in a more drastic law than the one now proposed.

NEW KEYSTONE GENERAL.

Senate Confirms Promotion of Col. Hooten, Who Retires Today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—(Special.)—The senate today stopped in the middle of legislation business to confirm Col. Mott Hooten of Chester county, Pennsylvania, as a brigadier general. This was absolutely necessary, as the nominee retires on age tomorrow and had to be confirmed today or he could not retire as a general.

Gen. Hooten is a native of Pennsylvania and entered the army as a volunteer sergeant in June, 1861. He served creditably throughout the civil war and was mustered out in March, 1865, as a major of volunteers. He was breveted major of volunteers for gallant and meritorious service in the battle of the Wilderness, and was breveted major in the regular army for gallant service in action against the Indians at Spring Creek, Mont., in October, 1867. He reached the grade of colonel in February, 1901, and recently has served with his regiment in the Philippines.

AMALGAMATED MEN CONTEST FOR SEATS

FIGHT MADE ON CREDENTIALS AT WHEELING MEETING.

Scale Agreement Effected by Association Officers, Is Expected to Be Indorsed. Shaffer Is Making Headway in Campaign for President.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., April 15.—The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers opened this morning. The city's welcome to the 250 delegates was voiced by Mayor Sweeney and the responses were by President Shaffer and other officials.

The convention went into executive session and a committee on credentials was appointed to which were referred the many cases of contested seats. These contests are nearly all based on failure to pay strike assessments levied by the national officers. The committee will be in session two or three days and quite a fight is expected on the floor of the convention when the committee reports.

The wage scale committee continues its sessions daily and will not accomplish its task for nearly a week. It is believed that the committee will indorse the scale agreements made by the general officers with the American Tin Plate, American Sheet Steel, American Steel Hoop and Republic Steel and Iron Companies.

St. Louis, Columbus and Youngstown want the 1903 convention, and St. Louis can get it without a struggle if assurances are given that the world's fair will surely be held next year. Columbus, otherwise, looks a likely winner.

There is some electioneering on the presidency and the Shaffer people are making some headway. The friends of Assistant Secretary Tighe are booming him, but the record of the association of never having turned down a national officer seeking re-election is being used as an argument for Shaffer.

Santa Fe in Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE, OKLA., April 15.—The Santa Fe is taking an active part in the railroad building now in progress in Oklahoma. The latest move by this company is to survey a line from Woodward, Okla., through Gage, Sayre and Mangum, to Quanah, Texas, a distance of 300 miles. This is in Rock Island, Orient & 'Frisco territory.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." That is the way with a Cold. A few little doses of Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant often saves a long sickness, if not something more serious.

TRAIN KILLS THREE.

Workmen in Avoiding One Train Step in Front of Another.

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—Ralph D. Clark, Joseph White and William Beacon were run down and instantly killed by a Royal Blue line train on the Philadelphia & Reading railway today at Langhorne, a short distance from this city. Clark and White were painters employed by the Reading company and Beacon was a colored resident of Langhorne. Clark and White, members of a force of men who were painting the fence between the tracks, stepped out of the way of a coal train directly in front of the Royal Blue express bound for New York.

Beacon attempted to cross the tracks and was hit by the same train. The bodies of the men were horribly mangled.

MORE THANKS FROM KAISER.

Not Yet Over Feeling Good for Reception to His Brother.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—Secretary Hay has received the following cable dispatch from Mr. Jackson, United States charge of embassy at Berlin:

"Upon communicating to the emperor the vote of thanks of the president and fellows of Harvard college for the proposed gift to the Germanic museum, at luncheon at the palace today, his majesty asked me to telegraph to my government to again express his thanks for all the kindness shown Prince Henry during his recent visit to the United States."

TYPEWRITERS FOR GERMANY.

27,000 Ordered From a Company That Is Backed by Pittsburgh Capital.

The Sunday papers told of the largest order for typewriters ever received in America for export. It is interesting to know that this order was received by the manufacturers of the Pittsburgh Visible Typewriter, and that it calls for 27,000 machines to be shipped to Germany.

No other machine ever placed on the market has been the recipient of so many compliments as are daily bestowed on the Pittsburgh Visible Writer, which is so manifestly superior to every other make of typewriter that progressive firms are fast taking it up.

The great advantage of the Pittsburgh Visible is that the writing is always in view of the operator; the moment a letter is printed it is seen. There is no necessity to lift the carriage to ascertain how the matter appears, consequently a vast amount of time is saved. This item of economy appeals to all thrifty business people, aside from the advantage of convenience, which of itself places the Pittsburgh Visible in a class apart from all other machines.

It need hardly be said that the order received from Germany shows that the astute people of that country are keeping in touch with American inventions, and that they know which typewriting machine is the best for all practical purposes.

The local office of the Pittsburgh Visible is at 208 Wood street. Mr. Ludwig Kaufman is in charge.

TWELVE MILES OF BUILDINGS WERE ERECTED

Annual Report of Bureau of Building Inspection Shows Great Record.

THE TOTAL COST $19,570,474

Supt. J. A. A. Brown's Prediction That Operations Would Aggregate $20,000,000 Justified by the Remarkable Showing of 1901.

When Capt. J. A. A. Brown, superintendent of the bureau of building inspection, made the prediction a year ago that building operations in Pittsburgh would aggregate $20,000,000 during the ensuing 12 months, many a wiseacre wagged his head as though to say that he had reckoned without his host. But Capt. Brown had not peered around foundation walls, squinted at elevators, poked his way into contractors' secrets and crawled from under falling walls a dozen years for nothing. He knew what he was talking about.

Yesterday he issued his annual report. The total is $19,570,474, less than $500,000 under Capt. Brown's estimate.

Some idea of how Capt. Brown and his four assistants, A. D. Bolton, M. G. Frank, Jacob Lightner and Joseph Large, had to work may be gained from the fact that operations for 1901 were nearly double those of 1900, reckoning from the amount involved.

Frontage of Twelve Miles.

If the buildings were stood side by side in a solid block their combined frontage would be 63,360 feet, or 12 miles.

The increase in the number of buildings erected, as compared with 1900, was 714, representing an estimated value of $7,517,481. There were 12 less additions granted than in the previous year, but the value of the permits issued for this purpose showed an increase of $505,153. For repairs, alterations and moving of buildings 790 permits were issued, and the estimated cost of these operations was $431,794.

The total number of permits issued for all purposes was 4,495. Of these 3,092 were for new buildings, 2,449 dwellings, 63 stores and dwellings, 50 apartment houses, 49 stores, 28 office buildings, 21 factories, 15 churches, 18 warehouses, 13 railroad buildings, 13 truck houses, 12 machine shops and 5 school houses, besides several hundred sheds, stables, miscellaneous and unclassified buildings.

Becoming a City of Flats.

This report is significant as showing the tendency to make Pittsburgh a city of flats. Fifty such structures in one year, many of them large buildings, solves the problem of where a good proportion of the incoming population may live if they wish.

In the value of its buildings erected the Third ward takes first rank, having three permits which call for an expendtiure of $2,180,000. Close behind it is the Second ward, with 11 permits amounting to $2,173,200. The other wards having a showing of over $1,000,000 are in the order of their rank the following: Twentieth ward, 218 permits, $1,876,250; Nineteenth ward, 260 permits, $1,771,915; Twenty-first ward, 689 permits, $1,767,105; Twenty-second ward, 157 permits, $1,296,264, and the Fourteenth ward, 224 permits, $1,092,100.

Two Poorest Records.

The Thirty-third ward had the poorest record, three permits only amounting to $1,575, and in the Tenth ward only one permit was issued amounting to $1,600. Of the new buildings 1,223 were frame structures, 1,069 brick, 725 brick veneered and the remainder of various kinds of construction.

During the year 217 violations of the building laws were reported and 25 complaints concerning dangerous buildings were received.

One fact is evident from the report, Capt. Brown says. "The fire limit should be extended and at once. At present it covers only the first 12 wards and a small portion of the South Side. Delay in granting better fire protection to the other wards is liable to result in great damage at any time."

As one means of securing better protection Capt. Brown is now formulating an amendment to the present fire ordinance providing that all buildings over a certain height shall be provided with standpipe.

STEEL COMPANY'S PROFITS

First Annual Meeting of Pennsylvania Company Approves Directors' Report.

CAMDEN, N. J., April 15.—The first annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Steel Company was held here today. The report of the board of directors submitted by President E. C. Felton was approved. It shows the net earnings from operations to be $2,879,272, with $323,559 additional from rent and income from investments and interest. The gross income from all sources was therefore $3,202,831, from which is deducted $550,113 interest on bonded and floating indebtedness, making the net income for the year $2,652,718. From this sum reserves for depreciation amounting to $491,211 is deducted, the net gain of the operating companies for 1901 being $2,161,506.

Out of this net gain the operating companies have paid dividends amounting to $1,156,750, which has gone into the treasury of the company. During the year the sum of $253,662 was expended for improvements.

The balance sheet of the company shows the total assets, including cash, loans, stocks and bonds, to be $27,859,025, and the liabilities, including the capital stock and surplus, a like amount. The old board of directors was re-elected.

SUIT BROUGHT TO STOP PURCHASE

ACTION BEGUN AGAINST PRESSED STEEL CAR COMPANY.

Stockholders Secure Temporary Bill Restraining the Big Concern From Acquiring McCord Brothers' Plant at Hegewisch, Ill.—Officers in the East.

Suit was brought yesterday in Trenton, N. J., against the Pressed Steel Car Company to prevent it from purchasing a plant in Hegewisch, Ill., which, it is alleged in the bill, would be a profitless investment and would further increase the heavy fixed charges of the company. Leading officials of the car company are now in the east, it is understood, to prevent the matter from reaching an airing in the court.

It is said that the executives of the car company proposed to carry out the purchase of the western plant without the formality of securing the consent of the stockholders. The original articles of incorporation empowers them to do this.

An influential contingent of the shareholders is said to have discovered the move, and on this account brought suit.

Officers Are in New York.

Former Judge James H. Reed, director and head of the counsel for the Pressed Steel Car Company, left for the east last night. T. Hart Given, treasurer of the company, is also there, as is James W. Friend, the vice president of the company. New York is now the headquarters of President F. N. Hoffstot.

The New Jersey court has granted a temporary restraining order against carrying out the purchase of the Illinois plant for $550,000, under the alleged planned condition that the owners were to pay $200,000 into the company and receive $450,000 of the car company stock.

An Associated Press dispatch from Trenton, N. J., last night says:

Rule Was Granted.

A bill in chancery was filed here today to restrain the Pressed Steel Car Company from purchasing the McCord Bros.' plant at Hegewisch, Ill. A rule to show cause has been granted, returnable in Jersey City April 28, and in the meantime the company is restrained from carrying out the propsed purchase.

The bill is filed by Jacob Rebino, of Healing Springs, Va., and Robert Wheelan and J. R. Deacon, of Jersey City, stockholders in the Pressed Steel Car Company.

It is set out in the bill that it is proposed to pay $550,000 for the McCord plant and that the McCords are to put into the company $200,000, for which they will receive $450,000 in stock.

Bad Management Charged.

"It is charged also in the bill that owing to previous bad management the Pressed Steel Car Company was obliged, in February, 1901, to place a mortgage of $5,000,000 on its property, and that the obligation to pay $500,000 a year on this mortgage does not leave the company in any position to purchase outside property. It is charged also that the Hegewisch plant has never paid, and that it is practically worthless. It is charged that the real owners of the Hegewisch plant are members of an English syndicate."

Represents Haggin Interests.

Jacob Rebino is one of the heavy shareholders in the Pressed Steel Car Company.

He is an associate of James B. Haggin, the copper king, and represents the Haggin interests in the Pressed Steel Car Company, along with Robert Wheeler.

The works at Hegewisch, Ill., were formerly the property of the United States Rolling Stock Company, subsequently the Illinois Car and Equipment company, manufacturers of wooden cars.

POLICE PUZZLED BY FOUR DEATHS

WIDOW, TWO CHILDREN AND A VISITOR KILLED BY GAS.

Neighbors Noticed the Odor and an Investigation Discloses the Dead Bodies. Windows and Doors Tightly Closed and Gas Escaping from Two Jets.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—Four persons were found dead tonight in the living apartments of Esther Kohen, a widow living in Third avenue. They had been killed by inhaling the fumes of illuminating gas, and so far the police have given no opinion as to whether or not the deaths were the result of accident. The names of the dead are:

ESTHER KOHEN, aged 50.
HENRY KOHEN, her son, aged 23.
LENA KOHEN, her daughter, aged 17.
EDITH FLOW, a friend of the Kohens, aged 16.

The tragedy evidently occurred last night, for the Kohens and their visitor had not been seen all day. Henry was in the bicycle business, and did not come to the store during the day. This evening his partner went to the house and was told by the occupant of another apartment that an odor of gas had been noticed all afternoon. He broke in the door and Henry was found dead lying on a lounge in the parlor, while the other three were in bed in another room.

All the windows and entrance doors had been tightly closed. Two unlighted gas jets were turned on in the parlor where Henry lay.

PROPERTY RETURNED.

Chicago Man Says His Wife and Children Successfully Conspired to Impoverish Him.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Judge Neely today decided the case of Fred M. Libby against Josephine Libby to recover property worth about $58,000. The court ordered a division of the property, giving Mr. Libby the lion's share. Mrs. Libby must return to the complainant all the real estate she holds save one piece, one-half the bonds which she now holds, but which once belonged to her husband, and a life insurance policy for $3,000. Two pieces of the real estate involved are in Revere, a suburb of Boston; one in Brooklyn, and another in Minneapolis.

Mr. Libby married the defendant in Fort Dodge, Ia., in 1880, and for 20 years, he says, they lived happily together. Then, he alleged in his statement to the court, his wife formed a conspiracy with two sons by two former marriages, and her sisters, to deprive him of his property. So well did the scheme work, says Mr. Libby, that when Mrs. Libby left him in 1899 he was practically penniless. The complainant was formerly a broker in Boston.

WEAVERS PRESENT SCALE.

Men Who Make Materials for Upholstering Invite Employers to a Conference.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 15.—The Amalgamated Association of Upholstery Weavers of Philadelphia today presented to the manufacturers a wage scale to become operative June 1. The schedule is itemized and prices are quoted for weaving the various materials, aggregating a general increase of 6 to 15 per cent. The manufacturers are urged to communicate with the men's executive committee if they think the proposed wages or conditions are unfair, with a view to a conference and an amicable adjustment of differences.

In the event of a strike more than 30 mills will be affected. There are 1,100 upholstery weavers in this city, who comprise 90 per cent of the trade in the United States.

SCHENLEY PARK CANNOT BE USED FOR CONVENTION

Director McCandless Denies Request of the Christian Endeavorers.

HE FEARS A PRECEDENT

Other Organizations, He Says, Would Have the Same Right to the Park and the Big Pleasure Ground Be Overrun.

The Christian Endeavorers of Pennsylvania will not be able to hold their coming convention in Schenley park. A huge tent had been secured, and it was the purpose of the local committee to erect this in the park and have the convention in the pleasant surroundings of that portion of the city. But Director J. Guy McCandless says no.

He thinks that it would be a bad precedent to establish. It is also probable that the Rev. S. Edward Young, who has been holding meetings in the parks for several seasons, will also be ruled out. He has made application, and the matter is under advisement. Director McCandless would not state yesterday what he expected to do with Mr. Young's request.

A delegation of Christian Endeavorers called on Director McCandless yesterday afternoon and made the request that they be allowed to hold their convention in Schenley park. The meeting is to be held in July, and thousands of Endeavorers are expected from all parts of the state.

Holding the convention in a public park was a new idea to the majority of the members of the great organization, and many of them have congratulated the local committee on being able to make such splendid arrangements.

These points were explained to Director McCandless yesterday, but he was obdurate. He told the committee that he had no objection to loaning them all the benches in Schenley park if they would find some other location for the tent.

In speaking of the matter after the meeting Director McCandless said:

The Director's Explanation.

"I told the committee I would not permit the erection of tent in the park, not because I thought they would injure anything, but because it would be a precedent, and other organizations would have the same right to the use of the park. I told the committee that they could have the use of the park benches during the convention. If a site for the tent is chosen near the park the benches can be moved there, and the organization given the use of them."

It is expected that the local committee will choose one of the vacant lots near the Hotel Schenley, probably the Frick property opposite the Carnegie library.

A great deal of space is needed, as large delegations are sent to this convention.

The Rev. S. Edward Young, who has been holding religious services in the pavilion in Schenley park during the months of June, July and August for several years, has again made application for the use of the pavilion during the present season. Director McCandless said yesterday that he had taken the matter under advisement, and is not certain what he will do with it. The services conducted by Mr. Young were well attended, and were enjoyed by a great many people.

JOHANN HOFF'S EXTRACT.

First made in 1847, by Johann Hoff, Berlin. Also made in the U. S. since 1892, when the demand became so great as to necessitate a Laboratory and Factory here, as well as in Germany.

There is not a city or town in this country where it is not well and favorably known, used by all members of the household, among all classes, recommended and prescribed by Physicians.

The mother and housewife uses JOHANN HOFF'S EXTRACT when she is tired, overworked or nervous from any cause.

The business man takes it when his digestion is impaired or when he has insomnia.

The society woman finds it helps her when the strain from her social duties is such that she is worn out or run down.

The business woman says there is nothing like it for strengthening her nerves and enabling her to stand the daily strain.

Teachers say it has no equal for renewing strength and enabling them to perform their arduous duties.

Clergymen use and recommend JOHANN HOFF'S EXTRACT as keeping them well and physically strong so that their brain is clear and they can do good work.

Doctors prescribe it whenever a patient needs a tonic and builder that has no reaction.

MUCH PROGRESS REPORTED FOR THE LIBRARY

Its Usefulness and Value Greatly Extended During the Past Year.

NO ACTION ON ADDITION

Proposed Extension of the Main Building Was Delayed Because the Courts Have Not Rendered Decision on Property Condemnation.

Contrary to expectations, the board of trustees of Carnegie library, at its annual meeting yesterday, was unable to take any action on the proposed extension of the main library building at Schenley park owing to the annoying delays in securing the ground needed for the site. It had been expected that by the time the annual meeting was held the matter would be in such shape that something definite could be done, but the legal proceedings have caused the delay.

In the three cases now pending in court attacking on the part of the property holders the right of the city to condemn land for the site the exceptions filed on behalf of the city will be argued on Thursday before Judge Frazer, and it is hoped that a final decision will be reached.

Badly Needed, Says Frew.

Until this litigation is decided, therefore, no further action can be taken by the governing board of the library. Mr. Carnegie is understood to be extremely anxious to see work on the extension begun. In his annual report, read before yesterday's meeting, President W. N. Frew says of the delay:

"A decision of the lower court has been obtained, favorable to the city, and it is earnestly hoped that the litigation may be carried through the supreme court this spring and the erection of this greatly needed improvement no longer retarded."

Yesterday's annual meeting was very largely attended. George A. Macbeth was made temporary chairman and W. H. Stevenson temporary secretary in the absence of Secretary J. F. Hudson, who was called out of the city by the death of a relative.

Old Officers Re-Elected.

The officers of last year were unanimously re-elected as follows: President, W. N. Frew; vice president, Robert Pitcairn; secretary, J. F. Hudson; treasurer, W. E. Corey.

President Frew also announced that at a recent meeting of the charter members of the board the Hon. James H. Reed had been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of David McCargo, late general superintendent of the Allegheny Valley railroad, who had been one of the original members of the board.

Most of the new members, ex-officio, from the city council were present, among them Councilman James J. Booth, of the Fourteenth ward; W. H. Stevenson, of the Fourteenth ward, and Joseph Wasson, of the Twentieth ward. Charles H. Crawford, the new president of common council, was out of town and could not attend.

Reading Better Literature.

Of the annual reports submitted the most interesting came from Librarian Edwin H. Anderson. Of the increase in circulation he said:

"The number of volumes issued for home use during the year from the Central library and branches was 488,126, an increase over the previous year of 59,440, or 12.18 per cent. There was a decrease in the circulation of fiction of nearly 3 per cent.

"Of the total circulation 208,751 volumes were issued from the Central library (13,755 from the loan department proper, 59,680 through the schools, and 4,366 through the home libraries); 81,452 from the Lawrenceville branch, 27,165 from the West End branch, 91,933 from the Wylie avenue branch, 42,244 from the Mt. Washington branch and 41,581 from the Hazelwood branch.

Added 21,000 Volumes.

"On February 1, 1902, there were in the Central library and its five branches, both catalogued and uncatalogued, 140,507 volumes and 8,803 pamphlets. There were added during the year 21,187 volumes and 1,937 pamphlets."

The grand total of volumes catalogued for the Central library and the branches is now 144,653, of which 7,315 have been destroyed or withdrawn. Librarian Anderson is preparing to issue a classified catalogue in book form, which will be a new departure. It will contain 3,000 pages and will be divided into two volumes.

The Reference Department.

The report shows that the use of the reference department at the Central library has grown greatly. It now contains 43,756 volumes. The number of readers during the year was 25,872, and the number of books used 135,282. An increase is also noted in the use of books on the great industrial arts, 21.62 per cent of all the books consulted in the reference department being of this nature. "This," says the report, "is due to the growing importance of our collection of the literature of technology, but still more to the fact that we have as a medium between the collection and the public an assistant who, in addition to a good technical education, has had practical experience as a chemist and metallurgist in this region. Already his hands are more than full, and it is only a question of time until he will have to have an assistant.

Using the Telephone.

"No better proof of the growth of the work could be adduced than the fact that, whereas one assistant was formerly able to take entire charge of the reference room, it now requires at busy times two, and sometimes three. The telephone which was installed in this department during the year increases the number of requests for information from those who live at some distance from the library, and the increasing number of letters received shows that the library extends the boundaries of its usefulness far beyond the city limits."

A decrease in children's room attendance and an increase in juvenile circulation is shown. The circulation in the children's department, including that through the schools and home libraries, was 198,546, an increase of 38,000. The unique "story hour" system for the tots of 10 or 12 or even less had an attendance of 7,384, an increase of one-third, the Norse stories being more popular than the Greek legends of the year previous.

Work in the Schools.

The report enumerates 57 schools that have been supplied with books during the past year. There was an increase of over 30,000 in the circulation through these mediums. "Three factors, we think," says the report, "will help us to attain the maximum of usefulness—the constantly increasing familiarity with the books on the part of the teachers, the story hour and the informal book talks. The year's circulation was 59,680. The books are taken home by children and are often read by parents and older brothers and sisters. [illegible] of the [illegible] emphatically on this point, that the books they circulate have a much larger field of usefulness than can be shown by figures. Some of the collections sent to the schools are practically reference collections for classroom use."

The report shows that 30 home library groups and 11 library clubs were organized.

In opening his annual report President W. N. Frew paid a tribute to the late Frederic Archer.

"The cause of musical education suffered a serious loss," says the report, "in the death on October 22 of the distinguished organist and composer, Frederic Archer. Beginning November 5, 1895, Mr. Archer gave nearly 500 free organ recitals in the music hall, the educational value of which can hardly be overestimated. The committtee on music hall was fortunate in being able to fill the vacancy in a most satisfactory manner and with but slight delay."

The president reviews the work of the year, including the installation of the new East End branch, and the efforts to give the upper South Side another, together with the reasons for the present delay. He closes with a statement of the appropriation for the present year.

Money Available This Year.

The city's appropriation for the fiscal year beginning February 1, 1902, was $131,000, which gives the board, with the present balance, a total of $139,988 01 for maintenance. This has been appropriated as follows:

Maintenance of system, $65,400; new books, $25,600; maintenance of buildings, $33,000; music hall emergency fund, $1,500; contingent fund, $14,488 01. The president also compliments the faithful and efficient work of the heads of departments and the employes.

Charles R. Cunningham, superintendent of buildings and grounds, reported that 114 entertainments were held in Carnegie lecture hall during the year, from 34 of which a rental was charged aggregating $432 50. The revenue from Hazelwood auditorium was $50.

Treasurer Corey's Report.

Treasurer W. E. Corey's report for the year, which ended with January 31, showed the following totals:

Surplus from last year	$ 9,361 89
Appropriation city of Pittsburgh	126,000 00
Music hall rentals	7,209 00
Receipts at central and branch libraries, sale catalogues, fines, etc.	3,301 42

Interest	1,865 03
Balance of bequest of J. D. Bernd	705 45
Miscellaneous sources	758 53
Total revenues	$156,301 32
DISBURSEMENTS.
Purchase of books	$ 26,208 51
Maintenance of buildings	32,865 68
Maintenance of library system	57,768 35
Maintenance of Music hall, including organist's and manager's salaries	8,403 40
Children's librarians' Training school	411 85
Home libraries	330 93
Contingent fund	6,161 93
Binding fund	1,831 50
Carnegie fund, purchase of books for Technical school	743 60
Bernd fund	2,015 50
Total expenditures	$136,741 25

The excess revenue consists of the following balances:

Carnegie library	$ 9,017 57
Bernd fund	60 82
Binding fund	5,468 50
Carnegie fund	5,013 18
Grand balance	$19,560 07

Interesting Technical Progress.

One of the interesting features in Mr. Corey's report is the expenditures made in the technical department, which is rapidly becoming one of the most valuable in the library. Mr. Carnegie created a special fund some years ago for the purchase and maintenance of special technical works of value to the mechanic and expert. Of the $20,000 he has thus far contributed there remains a balance, as shown in the report of $5,013 18. The binding fund mentioned in the report was contributed by a number of Pittsburgh manufacturers for the binding of the valuable English patent office reports, extending back for more than 200 years, which are highly prized by local experts and of great practical value to Pittsburgh industries. They are being bound as rapidly as possible.

Manager George H. Wilson of Carnegie music hall made a report on the revenue derived from the big auditorium during the year.

The Music Hall.

Mr. Wilson reported the following paid entertainments in the music hall: Pittsburgh orchestra, 36; Art society, 8; Mozart club, 5; Appollo club, 3; charity, philanthropic and educational, 32; conventions, 4; miscellaneous, 7. From these the total rental realized was $7,275, while the expenditures for the hall for the year were $8,403 40.

Of the 37 evening and 38 afternoon free organ recitals 22 of the afternoon and 22 of the evening recitals were given by the late Mr. Archer.

Mr. Wilson calls attention to the fact that the total receipts are a slight increase over the former year, and the total expenditures a slight reduction.

"The promise for the current year," concludes the report, "indicates no particular change, and it may be said that the popularity of Carnegie music hall is certainly as great at the present time as it ever has been."

Reports Will Be Printed.

The board adjourned at 5 o'clock after accepting the reports and ordering all of them printed. Before adjournment the auditing committee reported the condition of all books and accounts satisfactory, and the finance committee made its usual formal report, stating what deeds for branch libraries and sites for new ones were in its possession.

Librarian Anderson was complimented on the showing made by his annual report and on the condition of the main library. Members of the board were particularly interested in his report on the school work.

The board of trustees of the Carnegie institute will hold its annual meeting in the Carnegie building at 11 a. m. today.

CHOICE MADE TODAY.

The Design for Monument to Pennsylvania Dead at Andersonville Will Be Selected.

The design of the monument which is to be erected in the Andersonville Military cemetery at Andersonville, Ga., to perpetuate the memory of the 1,849 Pennsylvania soldiers who died in the Andersonville prison while prisoners there during the civil war will be selected today and the contract awarded for its erection by the Andersonville military prison commission, which is in session at the Hotel Duquesne. Ten different designs of the shaft which is to mark the spot where the Pennsylvania soldiers are buried have been submitted to the commission which began its session here yesterday. It was stated last night that it had not yet been decided whether the shaft would be of marble or granite, but the selection would be made at the meeting today.

The movement to erect a monument by the state of Pennsylvania to the union soldiers from this state who died in Andersonville prison originated at a meeting of the Union ex-Prisoners of War association held in this city about two years ago. At the last session of the legislature the senate passed a bill appropriating $50,000 for the purpose, but when the bill reached the lower house it was reduced to $25,000 and the governor cut the amount appropriated to $10,000. The commission is taking steps to have the monument dedicated at the close of the national G. A. R. encampment next October.

The commission consists of President James Atwell of Pittsburgh, Col. Ezra H. Ripple of Scranton, secretary; Judge Henry White, Indiana county; Capt. W. T. Zeigler, Gettysburg; Capt. W. H. Bricker, Beaver Falls, and J. D. Walker, national commander of the Prisoners of War association, who is assistant secretary of the commission. All the members were present at yesterday's meeting except Secretary Ripple and Mr. Walker acted in his stead.

Killed and Robbed Mail Carrier.

CINCINNATI, O., April 15.—Mumford Craft, alias Jack Collins, aged 19, was brought from Wise, Va., to Covington, Ky., today and later confessed that he and a companion, whom he refused to name, killed a rural mail carrier in Magoffin county, Ky., January 29, and secured $299 in rifling the mail sack.

A WHOLE FORTUNE.

Good Food and Good Health.

This food tale from a trained nurse is worth reading:

"I want to tell you of the curative properties of the good food, Grape-Nuts, and will say they are a whole fortune to anyone suffering as I did for years with a stomach so rebellious as to be almost useless to me.

"For years and years I was tortured with flatulency, heartburn, bloating, tenderness of the stomach, and many a time I cried bitterly because of my great distress.

"One never-to-be-forgotten day sister came up from Columbus to visit me. She brought a package of Grape-Nuts to see if the food would agree with me. I found the new food very delicious with cream and it caused me no pain or distress whatever.

"To make a long story short I have been using Grape-Nuts ever since. Have gained 20 pounds in five months and my health is perfect. It is a pleasure to be plump and healthy and feel well again. I am a professional nurse and naturally appreciate this change in my health." Lucy N. Richardson, Box 164, Logan, O.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

From Exile to a Presidency.

The capital of the republic of Cuba is moving by easy stages from Central Valley, N. Y., to Havana. Tomas Estrada Palma, president-elect of the newest addition to the family of republics, yesterday bade farewell to his friends and neighbors in that inconspicuous town of the Empire state and started for Cuba. Mr. Palma was an exile. He goes back to Cuba its chief magistrate. It could not have been an unpleasant exile, his life in America, but it was exile, nevertheless. He was driven from his own country 18 years ago, and he found a congenial home in America. That he possessed the faculty for making friends is clear from the send-off the people of Central Valley gave him, and from Mr. Palma's reply to the farewell addresses, in which he declared his regret at leaving and his gratitude for the great kindness with which he had been treated. There was more in the exercises at Central Valley yesterday than the honor that is paid to a man who has suddenly risen to a conspicuous height. The school children joined in the honors done to Mr. Palma by the prominent citizens and the volunteer fire department and the brass band of the village. The people had clearly learned to respect him, and they are glad that he is to be the first president of Cuba. And what a striking commentary it is on the changes caused by the ever-revolving wheel of fortune, that the man who fled from Cuba to save his life, goes back its president.

The License List.

The suspense of the applicants for licenses to sell liquors has been relieved by the handing down of the list of grants, refusals and hold-overs. The names of some well-known saloonkeepers appear among those who have been refused, and some others equally well known are in the list of those who have forfeited a certain number of days for failure to comply with the regulations. The decisions in most of these cases occasion no surprise, in view of the developments while the hearings were in progress, and which made it evident that the judges had unexpected sources of information. There has doubtless been much violation of the rules formulated by the license court, and the violators have only themselves to blame for their punishment. The liquor business is one which requires strict supervision.

Chinese Exclusion.

We agree with Senator Foraker that the Chinese exclusion bill is in many respects too aggressive and inconsiderate toward the Chinese. It does not take fully into consideration the operative and binding force of existing treaties with the imperial government and the possible retaliatory measures which such a hostile spirit toward a country with which we are in friendly relations may eventually provoke. The political situation in China is abnormal. Its executive powers, if not in abeyance, are in such indescribable confusion that it would be dangerous for us as a matter of policy and international good will to assume that national feeling on this subject can find no means of expressing itself in measures. Our trade relations with China come next to those of Great Britain and are almost equal to those of Russia, Germany, France and Japan put together. These countries do not regard our growing importance in the middle kingdom with favor. But so long as we stand in well with the Chinese people we need not fear either their rivalry or their hostility.

The question of how far we should exclude the Chinese from admittance into this country is one of practical politics and economic expediency. We get on very well with the Chinese in many respects, because, being so few comparatively in an immense population, except in San Francisco and to a less extent in New York, they do not seriously affect the labor market. Moreover, they are decreasing in numbers both on the Pacific coast and in the eastern states. Is it necessary, then, that the existing laws should be changed so as practically to exclude Chinamen from entrance into the United States except under restraints that are so humiliating that even Chinamen would resent them? Senator McLaurin thinks that the Chinese exclusion bill, if it passes, will have that effect, and that it will seriously disturb the cotton trade in the south. It requires special knowledge, not only of the southern cotton trade, but of public opinion in China to offer an opinion on the point one way or another decisively. The country has expressed its determination through its representatives in congress not to let down the bars lower than they are under the existing law. But it is doubtful if the people as a whole are prepared to raise them any higher if by doing so it would prospectively prove detrimental to our future commercial relations and expansion in the greatest market of the eastern hemisphere. To re-enact the present law is sufficient. That is the conclusion of both Foraker and McLaurin.

Some Things the Figures Show.

The annual reports of the Carnegie library reveal the influence the institution is exerting on the life of the community. It appears in the figures showing the greater use that is made of the library by the people. They show that 488,126 books were taken out during the year—59,440 more than last year—an increase of 12.18 per cent. And with this increase there was a decrease in the circulation of fiction of nearly 3 per cent. With the increase of the reading habit there has been a growth of the liking for more substantial literature. Of course, the library does not contain 488,126 volumes. There are less than one-third that number on the shelves. The report of the number of books circulated means, therefore, that the books have been kept moving.

One of the most noteworthy features of the reports is that relating to the reference library, which contains 45,756 volumes. There were 135,282 calls on this great storehouse of knowledge by 25,872 readers. Of the books consulted 21.62 per cent were on the great industrial arts. There will be an increasing demand on the reference library for such books. It has grown so that the assistant librarian in charge of the department will soon need help. The increasing use of these works on the great industrial arts is strong evidence that there is need of the Carnegie technological school, that is being delayed for want of a site on which to build it. Where so many consult the books there must be a generation growing up that has need of the educational facilities the school would afford.

Pan-Presbyterianism.

The meeting of the executive commission of the Alliance of Reformed and Presbyterian Churches, which opens in Pittsburgh today, marks another progressive step in the drawing together of denominations which, while united in purpose, are separated by credal lines. It is not the purpose of this alliance to abolish all denominational lines and construct a great ecclesiastical machine, but to establish a closer relationship and work together in more complete harmony, as has been explained by prominent members of the association.

Considering the bitterness often manifested between denominations in the past, there is cheering promise for the future in the fact that prominent men of those same denominations are now coming together for interchange of thought and formulation of plans for the furtherance of a common cause.

The alliance has a wide field for the exercise of its influence and activities, and the proceedings of the sessions in Pittsburgh will be followed with interest by all who have religious advancement at heart. The program arranged for the various meetings shows a strong array of men prominent in their denominations, and the subjects assigned them are sure to be treated in a masterly way.

The Beef Combine Wavering.

The beef combine has shown the first symptom of wavering in its solemn league and covenant to tack on an additional cent or half cent after the customary convention of its agents. Although it was only last Thursday that the agents held their periodical symposium and added an additional fraction to the wholesale price of meat to the retailers, reports from Kansas City show that they are in a very panicky condition just now. On Monday the packers began quoting upon an independent basis. It may be also that the legal investigation which the attorney general, at the instigation of the president, has instituted has in a large measure produced this result.

If the "beef barons" can afford to carry on their business without resorting to the methods which characterized their dealings with the public during the last eight or ten months it is a logical deduction from established facts that it was not the high price of cattle on the hoof that led to the inordinate cost of meat, but an effort to wring from the consumer what he is capable in the last resort of paying.

Although there is a palpable break in the trust, it is not likely to have much effect on the course of the investigation. It is said that the United States district attorney will begin taking evidence in Kansas City today. There is no desire on any side to injure the packers. They have developed on particular lines one of the greatest industries in the country. There can be, and will be, no reversion to the time when local butchers bought, killed, dressed and sold their own meat. Conditions in the meat as in other trades must be accepted as they have developed. But the delusive notion of the combine that it could rule the price of meat at its own sweet will and pleasure has received a set back.

Not Much Progress.

The work of moving the presidential inauguration day further along the calendar does not progress very rapidly. In fact, so far as congress is concerned, it hasn't even made a start. It was reasonable to presume that after all the discussion the subject has had, and the reference of the proposition first to a committee of the house of representatives and then to a sub-committee, an affirmative recommendation would come from the smaller body; but the sub-committee has handed the whole business back to the general committee with the information that it has no opinion on the subject. Of course there were opinions among the members of the sub-committee. That was the trouble. There were too many opinions and opinions of too many kinds. Now it is where it started.

The movement to remove inauguration day from the erratic climatic conditions of early March to the more suitable weather of late April has been approved by overwhelming sentiment. A committee promoting the project includes among other members the powerful array of the governors of 43 states, and yet it is exceedingly difficult to get action on the proposition.

Charles Emory Smith, who is mentioned for the Republican nomination for governor, would shine brighter as a governor than as a hustler for delegates. The field, however, is wide open and now is the time for good men to come to the front.

Apaches Akin to Eskimo.

From the New York Sun.

An interesting ethnological discovery has just been made as a result of the observations of Father Jette, S. J., son of Sir L. A. Jette, lieutenant governor of the Province of Quebec. Father Jette is a missionary among the Nulato Indians, whose habitat is near the polar circle. He has made a careful study of their language, and in writing to some of his colleagues in New Mexico he quoted words used by the Nulatos. To the great surprise of those who received Father Jette's letter, the Nulato words were found to be identical with the words in the Apache tongue. The result was further correspondence, and ultimately the discoverey that these two tribes of Indians, now living thousands of miles apart and in vastly different climates, have the same language. From this fact the deduction has been made that the Apache of New Mexico originally came from the far north, thus tending to confirm the theory of a common Asiatic origin.

EVERYONE DAFT ON EITHER HORSES OR L. & N.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, April 15, 1902.

On this beautiful day the racing season of Greater New York began. The weather forecaster predicted rain, but the 10,000 people that hurried and skurried to the Aqueduct track this afternoon only laughed at that sapient authority. The sun shone brightly and there was wind enough to frighten one without giving one a chill. Something of the enthusiasm of New York in horse racing can be understood by Pittsburghers who remember the excitement that used to exist around the Homewood track in its palmy days. Then everyone with sporting blood in his veins liked to know what horses had pulled off the different events in the day, and many of them made their way to Homewood to see the thing decided. That is the case in New York. Listen to usual conversation in any public resort here, and you gain the impression that three-fourths of the male population is "playing the ponies," while most of them, with the other fourth, are taking flyers in L. & N. in Wall street. The season at Aqueduct opened brilliantly, and tonight one hears, around the Metropole and Marlborough corners in Broadway, where the racing contingent are fond of gathering on a fine evening, what a glorious day it was. Considering that the poolrooms are all closed, and that, if one wants to "get his money down," he must be exceptionally "wise," it is remarkable how much was won and lost, according to the assertions of the Broadway loungers. Not a crumpled roseleaf interfered with the pleasure of the sport, and as we are obliged to believe, on the authority of jockeys, trainers and horsemen generally that "the horses like it," we must suppose that the first day of New York's racing season gave pleasure to everyone—even to the losers.

An Old-Time Battle on 'Change.

Just as was predicted last night, L. & N. kept bubbling today, and excitement on 'change was at the explosive point from the opening until at the stroke of the gong at 3 o'clock there was a sharp cessation of the noise, as if everyone in the great chamber had been suddenly stricken dead. This shutting off of the trading at a touch of the bell is not the least dramatic feature of a big day in the New York stock exchange; but there were others equally dramatic, and they were repeated at short intervals all days. As usual, the galleries were full of spectators, and altogether the street has been enjoying a good, old-fashioned battle, such as was much commoner a decade ago than it is in these piping times of peace and general prosperity.

The Pennsy Will Drive Out Vice.

There is nothing new in the way of the Pennsylvania railroad bringing its terminus into the heart of New York. Gov. Odell today signed the Stranahan bill, which permits the Pennsylvania to construct a tunnel under the North river and to establish the great station already planned on the west side of Broadway in the great district between Eighth and Sixth avenues and embracing several of the streets in the twenties which have long been mysterious to everyone except the denizens and police, especially after dark. It will be a good thing for New York when some hundreds of the rookeries in that locality have been displaced to make room for a spacious, wholesome railroad station. As New York moves further uptown, many old-fashioned houses and streets, where old-fashioned wickedness has flourished for generations, must be razed, and the most effective agent in this good work is a powerful railroad. This metropolis will receives the Pennsylvania railroad with open arms.

How Workmen Court Death.

A man swung by a single rope that looked dreadfully frail far outside of the twelfth-story windows of a new skyscraper in Thirty-fifth street, nearly opposite the Garrick theater, this afternoon. By a singular coincidence an ambulance waited below in the street. What the ambulance was there for I do not know, as there had not been any accident in the new building; but it looked as if the reckless chap swinging about in mid air might soon be a candidate for it, unless, indeed, he became a subject for the morgue wagon. The feats performed by some of the men working on the big buildings in this city are terrifying, but, as we see them every day, little notice is taken of them. This man on the rope chose that method of getting from the ninth story to the twelfth, rather than climb ladders inside, which would have been monotonous, and nothing like as spectacular as risking his neck on a teetering rope. He got to the scaffold in safety, but it would not be surprising if he were carted away, a mass of broken bones and quivering flesh, in the ambulance before the end of the week. Such horrors are everyday happenings here.

Nina Farrington in a Police Court.

Nina Farrington, the actress and prima donna, who has so many diamonds she cannot wear them all at once, was in a police court today to help her French maid prosecute an Italian who was charged with stealing the maid's purse. The maid cannot speak English, but the ebullient Nina can talk in both tongues. She helped her maid to explain the case, while officers, magistrates, clerks, prisoners in waiting and all the malodorous persons that make up a police court audience were feasting on Miss Farrington's pulchritude and Paris costume. It was a triumphant time for Miss Farrington, and her press agent is only afraid that he may fail to take full advantage of his opportunity.

Panic in the Matrimonial Market.

Hoboken aldermen are not more watchful of the main chance than aldermen elsewhere, but they will not allow themselves to be driven out of a profitable employment without a protest. A clergyman in Hoboken advertises in the public prints that he will marry couples free of charge. Hoboken aldermen depend upon marriage fees for cigar money, and they feel that the minister is their personal enemy. The clergyman advertises under a nom de guerre, but the aldermen declare that they will tear off his disguise if they have to tear up all Hoboken at the same time.

Passionists' Chapter in Pittsburgh.

One of the conspicuous objects which greets the eye of the incoming traveler to New York is the great gray stone St. Michael's monastery of the Passionist fathers that crowns the West Hoboken ridge of the hills skirting the Newark meadows. Word has been received there from Rome that the Very Rev. Father John Baudenelli soon will arrive in this city to attend the general chapter of the order, which will be held at the monastery of St. Paul of the Cross, the house of the Passionists in Pittsburgh, in August. Father John, who is one of the council of the general order in Rome, is well known in Pittsburgh, where he and his brother, Father Philip, were stationed for several years. His term of office in Rome lasts for six years, and he still has three years to serve. He will return to Rome after the chapter, which will deal with all the administrative affairs of the order needing attention. The Passionists, although one of the most austere orders of the Catholic church, have had a wonderful success in the United States since they were first introduced here 40 years ago by the late Bishop O'Connor, of Pittsburgh.

Break-Down of a Veteran Actor.

Much sorrow is expressed among theatrical people and New Yorkers generally over the breakdown of Daniel H. Harkins, the sterling old actor, in "The Last Appeal," last evening. Mr. Harkins is well known in Pittsburgh. He was with Richard Mansfield for many years and played leading parts for him in all his important plays. The part in which Mr. Harkins is best remembered was the "Prince of Wales" in "Beau Brummel." He lost his lines on the stage at Wallack's last evening and almost completely collapsed. He had been working hard at rehearsals, and it is thought the excitement of a first night, added to this fatigue, brought on a kind of hysterical affection. It is believed he will soon be able to play again. In the meantime, arrangements have been made to have Edwin Brandt take Mr. Harkins' place in "The Last Appeal." Mr. Brandt has been doing the villain in "Soldiers of Fortune" at the Savoy.

A Popular School to Be Moved.

Miss Ely's school, Riverside drive, where so many of Pittsburgh's young daughters are treading the flowery paths of learning, is about to remove from its present home. A great hotel is to be erected upon the site. The school, of course, will find another abiding place near the present building.

A Good Samaritan in a Carriage.

New York's daily explosion took place at the New York theater this time. A boiler tube under the sidewalk in front of the house blew up and scalded two employes of the theater, one of whom probably will die. While the two men lay on the sidewalk, waiting for an ambulance, a richly-gowned woman sprang from a passing cab and took the head of the dying man, Lamb, in her lap, trying to soothe his agony. When the ambulance arrived the woman gave way to the doctor, re-entered her cab and was driven away before anyone could learn who she was. New York is a tough old town, but there are plenty of good Samaritans of both sexes in it, after all.

Pat Sheedy on Gambling.

Pat Sheedy, the "square gambler," is back in New York. He has been away for a month, traveling through the south and west, but returns with the conviction that New York is the only city fit to live in. Mr. Sheedy, oracular as ever, declared today that there is gambling in New York city at the present time, and always will be. On this point Sheedy said: "They will never stop gambling in New York and Jerome knows it. As a matter of fact, there is no reason why they should. The real gambling in this city is carried on in a decent, orderly manner, and it is not flaunted in the faces of the people." Perhaps Pat Sheedy is right. There are many here who agree with his sentiments.

Musical Library to Be Sold.

One of the interesting auction sales scheduled for tomorrow is that of the furnishings of the home of Rudolf Aronson, the well-known musician and theatrical manager. It includes his unique library of 225 richly-bound piano and vocal scores by celebrated composers, and ten portfolios of Mr. Vanderbilt's collection. The sale will attract connoisseurs from all parts of the country, including some from Pittsburgh. There are nearly 100 high-class modern paintings in the list, and they will be sold specially on Friday.

Crusade Against Signs.

"Sky signs" are not to be interfered with in New York. Corporation Counsel Rives has ruled that a man has the right to put anything on top of his own building that he likes, and if he chooses to place an open-work sign on his skyscraper, which can be read against the sky, that is his business. The board of aldermen has been talking about compelling the removal of these signs because they disfigure the city. The signs are of wire generally, and if one does not mind giving himself a crick in his neck by looking at the top of a 16 or 18-story building, he can see the signs from the street very easily. There is a bitter war against signs in general in New York just now, and the board of aldermen wants to clear them all away, beginning with those in the tenderloin.

Mayor Too Busy to Go South.

Mayor Low is so busy with the budget that he will not be able to go to Charleston for "New York day," which will be next Wednesday, the 23d. The Merchants' association will start for Charleston either on Sunday afternoon or Monday morning and a committee of the association waited on the mayor today to ask him to accompany them. He said he would like to go, but cannot get away on account of the budget. Gov. Odell will be there, however, to represent the state.

George Gould as a Witness.

George J. Gould was on the witness stand in the United States circuit court in Brooklyn this morning. He was examined, as president of the Texas & Pacific railroad, as to his knowledge of the burning of the company's warehouses and piers at Westwego, La., in 1894, when the property of many customers of the railroad was destroyed. The suit in which Mr. Gould was a witness today was brought by Louis Maraude to recover $2,500 damages. This is only one of 30 similar suits, however. If this one should be decided against the railroad the company will find itself defendant in suits which aggregate $400,000. Mr. Gould answered all questions with his customary sang froid, and did not seem to mind even the loss of his hour's time—no small item to a man whose time is estimated as worth a thousand dollars an hour or more.

An Athletic Invalid.

Daniel Hitchcock of Ossining is pretty lively for an invalid. He was brought to New York today to enter a sanitarium in Brooklyn. When he arrived with an attendant he was left standing in the hall for a few moments. He confided to another patient that he did not like the looks of the place, then he vaulted over the back fence, made off, and has not been seen since. "And he is an invalid," grumbled the attendant this evening. "What's the use?"

PERSONALS.

"American capital is being poured into Mexico and the country is being rapidly developed," remarked F. L. Torres, manager of the Isthmus Rubber Company plantation, on the isthmus of Tehuantepec, at the Hotel Henry last night. "Nearly all the central part of the isthmus suitable for agricultural purposes is now owned by Americans, who have spent nearly $22,000,000 in the past five years in developing that country. When I first went to Mexico there were very few American capitalists to be found there. I think I am the pioneer American planter to open up tropical agriculture in Mexico. I went to Mexico 14 years ago and have supervised the cultivation of over 32,000 acres since. Our plantation now consists of 10,000 acres of the most fertile land in the isthmus of Tehuantepec. We are at present putting in an immense pineapple field. We have 5,000 acres under cultivation, on which are raised coffee, rubber and tropical fruits. The country is being rapidly improved in every part. The government has contracted with S. Pierson & Sons of London, Eng., the largest contracting firm in the world, to complete the harbors on the Gulf and Pacific terminals of the National Tehuantepec railroad and to also reconstruct this road. The contract calls for an expenditure of $19,000,000 in gold. The contracting firm is required to advance any other monies required in carrying out the contract, and the government has agreed to give the firm the right to operate the railroad for a term of 50 years, sharing the earnings. The railroad, when fully completed, will be a highway between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. When the docking facilities are completed vessels will be unloaded on the Atlantic side of the coast and reloaded on the Pacific side inside of 24 hours after arrival, and at a cost of only $2 50 a ton. The completion of the harbor and railroad will save a haulage of 1,100 miles, as against the proposed isthmian canal, beside the estimated cost of locking through the canal, which will be $8 per ton, beside a three days' delay in transit. The retirement of President Diaz is only a question of a short time. It is stated in Mexico that should he send in his resignation the council would refuse to accept it. The understanding is that he is to be given a six months' leave of absence, and during the interim his successor will be settled on. The increasing demand for raw rubber has for the time stopped all action on the proposed Philippine cable, and the bill is now held in congress. To make the cable and insulate it would exhaust the world's supply of rubber for a year. Mexico is now raising some of the finest coffee in the world and the emperor of Germany has been one of the first to make this discovery. The Umapan plantation, upon which is grown the finest coffee in Mexico, supplies his table, as the entire output of this plantation has been reserved for him. This coffee has been contracted for by Emperor William at $1 per pound and is the highest priced coffee in the world."

On the limited to Cincinnati last night were Bishops H. Y. Satterlee of Washington, D. C.; W. N. McVicker of Rhode Island, A. L. C. Hall of Vermont and Frederick Burgess of Long Island. ELKIN AND STONE.

The Political Sensation as Editors of Pennsylvania Papers See It.

From the Uniontown News Standard.

If personal preferences were to be consulted, no man would stand ahead of John P. Elkin with Senator Quay. But the interests of the party are higher than the ambitions of any one man, and Senator Quay thinks present conditions do not favor the candidacy of Mr. Elkin. These conditions are brought about by the course of Gov. W. A. Stone in his remarkable dealing with the people of Pittsburgh growing out of the city recordership. The interests of the party in close counties, with many county tickets and a United States senatorship involved, are paramount, and the Republicans of Fayette county and the state generally have confidence in the sagacity and courage of Senator Quay's political leadership, while not abating any of their friendship for John P. Elkin personally.

From the Philadelphia Press.

Gov. Stone is viewing the proceedings from the back benches. His recorder of Pittsburgh comes to Philadelphia, consults Senator Quay, hurries back to Pittsburgh without advising with the governor and enters upon preparations to turn the Allegheny delegates against Elkin. He knows this is not what the governor wants, but he does not hesitate to say that he has no fear of removal because there is not a Republican in Pittsburgh who would accept the place at Gov. Stone's hands. This is a situation that does not require a postscript to explain.

From the Scranton Truth.

It is not the machine delegates alone, or the men who manipulate the primaries who were led to believe that Col. Quay favored Mr. Elkin's candidacy; the belief has prevailed quite generally, and was cultivated with assiduity. The frequent visits of Attorney General Elkin to United States Senator Quay encouraged the belief, which was strengthened by the oracular expressions of confidence usually made by Mr. Elkin after those interviews. It is because Mr. Elkin was making political capital out of those incidents that Quay felt called upon to make an explicit disavowal of favoring his candidacy. The scheme was ingeniously worked. Quay was used for the purpose of getting machine delegates and when they were thus obtained, they were used in turn to convince Quay of Mr. Elkin's popularity. In this way, as already pointed out in the Truth, Quay's influence was used as an element with which to convince Quay himself of Mr. Elkin's strength. But Quay is not a hayseed statesman by any means, and he cannot be buncoed by political neophytes. He undoubtedly realized the drift of things for some time before making up his mind to stop it, and now that he has acted, the Elkin bubble will burst in short order.

From the Sharon Telegraph.

The political die is cast and it is against John P. Elkin. The able attorney general of the state has for months been actively pressing his candidacy for governor with early results very much in his favor. But there has developed such bitter opposition in various quarters of the commonwealth that conservative Republican leaders feel that the nomination of Mr. Elkin to top the state ticket this year would be decidedly inexpedient as it might cost the loss of several congressional districts and even the legislature that will elect a United States senator. This, even if Mr. Elkin's victory at the polls were positively assured.

Mr. Elkin has many friends in Mercer county and is personally held in high esteem. But the wisdom of the leadership at Mercer on Monday last which changed a resolution that at first was intended to be one of instruction for Elkin, into a complimentary mention of the candidate with carte blanche for Mercer county delegates to vote at their discretion for the most available man, is hereby justified.

From the Harrisburg Telegraph.

Of course the Democrats are interested, but they cannot conceal their chagrin over the evidences of party spirit in the Republican organization. Whatever may be the outcome of the rivalries of candidates in the June convention there is certain to be an overwhelming of Democratic ambitions at the November election.

From the Meadville Star.

Mr. Quay evidently thought it would be bad politics for Elkin to be nominated, and, whatever else he may be accused of, he cannot be accused of a lack of knowledge in political matters. For a long time protests from all over the state have been going in against Elkin. It was feared that his nomination would precipitate a revolt which would result in the election of a Democratic governor, the loss of the state legislature and of a United States senator. Not that Mr. Elkin is personally objectionable, but he has been too closely identified with the Stone administration, and if there was ever an administration discredited it is that of present Gov. William A. Stone. Mr. Elkin's friends may let off some fireworks, but Elkin himself can afford to wait for a time that may come. His ambition may prompt him to fight, but if he gives his judgment an opportunity to act he will take his medicine and "go along." He ought to be able to practice the doctrine he has often preached. Nearly every prospective Republican candidate has said that he would regard his chances of election to a county office or to state legislature as vastly improved if some candidate for governor should be chosen not identified with the Stone administration and acceptable to the party at large. Early last week a Titusville Republican said that "one might throw a handful of pebbles into a crowd of a thousand Titusville voters and run little risk of hitting an Elkin man." He said that with the exception of a few personal friends of Mr. Elkin the sentiment there was against his nomination. The same is true of the western part of the county.

From the Erie Times.

The election of congressmen this fall, the choosing of a legislature that will elect a successor to Senator Penrose, makes the campaign one of the greatest possible importance and Senator Quay would be a poor and weak general indeed if he failed to take heed of the unmistakable warnings that have been sounded in various portions of the state. If Mr. Elkin fails in the race it will be for no other reason than that he is recognized as being so near to Gov. Stone, an executive who is in bad odor from one end of the commonwealth to the other.

From the Titusville World.

The great leaders are right in seeking out a candidate who will bring harmony to the party. While Mr. Elkin would doubtless be successful in winning the governorship, if nominated, there would be a liability to serious loss to the party in congressmen, members of the legislature and county officers. However, the Indiana statesman is not to blame for staying in the race if he chooses to do so. Such is the right of every member of the party. Mr. Elkin is a very worthy gentleman, but he is the victim of untoward circumstances in being compelled to shoulder the burdens imposed by the administration of Gov. Stone. He is a young man and if he could see his way clear to withdraw at this time would merit recognition in the future.

From the Bradford Star.

Senator Quay says that he regards the candidacy of Attorney General Elkin under present conditions as threatening the Republican success upon the state, congressional and legislative tickets. There are many other staunch Republicans throughout the state who are of the same opinion and little surprise would be occasioned if a "dark horse" won the gubernatorial nomination this year. The McKean county situation would be greatly clarified from the standpoint of Republican success, if Mr. Quay's opinion is correct, by the elimination of Elkin from the governorship contest at the polls.

SOCIETY

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE are entertaining the German ambassador, Dr. von Holleben, at their home, "Solitude," in Homewood. The minister arrived in Pittsburgh last night and alighted from the train at Homewood station, going directly to the Westinghouse residence, which is near the depot. Dinner was served almost as soon as the distinguished visitor was in the house. The dinner was beautifully and elaborately served. The decorations were pink and green. The roses, which predominated in the decorations, came from the Westinghouse conservatories. Potted plants filled every nook and corner in the hallways and drawing-room.

Covers were laid for 16. The dinner was served as rapidly as possible, as nearly all the guests occupied the Westinghouse boxes at the opera afterward. The guests of honor at the dinner last night were Dr. von Holleben and Miss Violet Brocklebank.

The dinner party, besides the host and hostess and their honor guests, consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Brashear, Mrs. William Thaw, Josiah Copley Thaw, the Rev. Dr. S. J. Fisher, Dr. and Mrs. William J. Holland, Miss Rachel Aiken, George Westinghouse, Jr., and A. G. Uptegraft. The same party, with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Thaw, occupied the Westinghouse box at the opera.

Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse came to Pittsburgh especially for the grand opera season and to entertain Dr. von Holleben. They will return to Washington, D. C., within a few days. Next week Lord Kelvin, the celebrated British scientist, will be their guest in Washington.

The wedding of Miss Louise Gormly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Gormly, and Samuel Wiley Gault took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Murray Hill avenue, East End. The hour for the ceremony was 7 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Dr. D. S. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Allegheny. It was a pretty wedding, the colors being pink and white.

Mrs. William W. Giffen was the matron of honor and the bridal party included also Miss Mary Gormly, Mrs. William H. McKenna and Miss Elizabeth C. McKenna. The bride wore a wedding gown of white lace over white satin, her veil was fastened with a coronet of orange blossoms which was worn by her mother at her wedding 28 years ago, and she carried a bouquet of brides roses. The matron of honor was handsomely gowned in white and pink. Mrs. McKenna wore a pink satin gown trimmed in white, and Miss Gormly and Miss McKenna wore dainty chiffon gowns of white over pink. Craig Gault was his brother's best man and the ushers were William W. Giffen and Ross Gormly. After the wedding supper the bride and bridegroom left for a bridal tour. After their return they will live in Millvale avenue, Shadyside.

Minstrels for Charity.

The Mask and Wig club, a new organization of East End young men, will give its first entertainment at Duquesne garden, Thursday, April 24. Black-faced minstrels will hold the boards that evening, the proceeds of the entertainment going to the coffers of the Children's Aid society of Allegheny county, which devotes itself to the taking care of the homeless waifs of the county. Messrs. Robert Connelly, Harry Ruch, Henry Campbell, W. H. Oliver, Ralph Moore, W. H. Emory, Walter J. Kahler and Richard Lewis will be the end men, and Mr. J. Morgan Hewitt the interlocutor—that much-abused man. Messrs. E. Dudley Burrows, Thomas Geoghegan, Earl Plank, Frank G. Brown and George Pulen are the soloists. In the second part of the program Mrs. Florence Lancaster Archer, well known in this city, will be heard in songs, a quartet will render ragtime melodies, the audience will be given "A Glimpse of Fantastic Japan" by a Japanese conjurer, Messrs. Campbell and Emory will annihilate the English language in Jew and German characters, and William B. Maddock, equilibrist, late of Sandow's company, will illustrate the wonderful handstand on the wire. A brilliant list of patronesses has been secured and includes Mesdames William Barclay, Joseph G. Father Mackin of St. Paul's Roman Catholic church assisted in the ceremony. John D. Mahon was best man. An orchestra furnished the music for the bridal march.

BIJOU THEATER DISPOSED OF IN BENNETT'S WILL

Present Interests to Continue Five Years, and Then They Will Be Divided.

MISS BIGGAR GETS MOST

P. J. McNulty of Pittsburgh the Second Largest Beneficiary—Estate Has Shrunk to a Million—A Slice for Anti-Cruelty Society.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 15.—Surprise attended the reading of the will of the late Henry M. Bennett at Windsor farm, Farmingdale, N. J., today by the executor, John F. Hawkins. It showed that the Bennett fortune had been greatly magnified. It is probable that the estate is not worth more than $1,000,000.

As was expected, the principal legatees are Miss Laura Biggar, who will receive about $300,000, and Mr. Bennett's former secretary, P. J. McNulty of Pittsburgh, who will get about $200,000. To Mr. Bennett's brother-in-law, Ira H. Shattuc of Minneapolis, the Windsor farm, valued at $60,000 is left, together with all stock and machinery, except three horses to be selected by William Dudleston, former manager of the farm, who also is to have $1,000.

Miss Biggar Gets a Home.

Miss Biggar gets the house in New York city valued at $40,000; also $1,000 in cash and an annuity of $1,800 a year as long as she lives, the principal on her death to go to her son, Willis J. McConnell, or, if he be dead, to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Asbury Park.

McNulty received a two-thirds interest in 40 acres of land near West Brownsville, Pa.; a house at No. 1 North Diamond street, Allegheny, and Mr. Bennett's gold watch and chain. The Bijou theater interests in Pittsburgh are to be continued for five years, after which they are to be divided between Laura Biggar, who is to receive 60 per cent and McNulty 40 per cent.

William T. Keogh of New York receives a 7 carat diamond pin; Samuel Croker Bennett, a nephew, and Mary Bennett, a niece, $5,000 each; George B. White of Farmingdale, $1,000, and Mary Diskin of Pittsburgh $500.

Five thousand dollars is left for the construction of an entrance to Mount Prospect cemetery, Asbury Park. A trust fund of $1,000 also is left to the Asbury Park Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. R. M. Gulick, Mr. Bennett's theatrical partner, is made residuary legatee.

Miss Biggar's History.

Miss Laura Biggar was born at Wilmington, Del., about 36 years ago, and her parents at one time were persons of means. Her father was prominent in the real estate business, but met with reverses which forced his daughter to earn her own livelihood. She took to the stage, and her first engagement was with the stock company at Winnipeg, when she was less than 18 years old. While with this company, at the age of 18, she was married to J. W. McConnell, an actor in the same company, who was a tragedian of considerable merit, and was is now connected with some company in the west.

After some six months at Winnipeg the company disbanded and with her husband she went to San Francisco, where she secured an engagement as the second prima donna with William Thompson's Boston Lyric opera company, then playing on the Pacific coast. She had a fine voice and was very successful. A year or so later she joined William A. Brady's forces and in 1888 she played the title role in "She."

Voice Ruined by Stage Business.

Miss Biggar at this time gave promise of becoming a great opera singer, but unfortunately she accepted the leading part in Brady's production of "After Dark," and the nightly plunge into the tank of water on the stage developed a cold which almost ruined her singing voice. She remained with Brady for three seasons, playing leading roles. One of her greatest successes was as Isa in "The Clemenceau Case." For several seasons she appeared as the famous widow in Hoyt's "A Trip to Chinatown," in which she probably is best remembered by theatergoers.

About this time she was divorced from her husband by whom she has a son, Willis W. J. McConnell, now 16 years of age, who is at school at Tarrytown, N. Y.

After three seasons with Hoyt in "A Trip to Chinatown," she formed a partnership with Bert Haverly, who had been a member of the same company, and they took the play on the road for two or three seasons.

Her Meeting With Bennett.

The venture was not a financial success, and Miss Biggar went on the vaudeville stage for a short time. Her next theatrical appearance was in "The White Squadron," in which she made a great hit.

About this time (seven years ago) she met Henry M. Bennett, who became interested in her, and he took her to his home as a member of his family. She then retired from the stage for several seasons, and in the season of 1899-00 she again appeared in William T. Keogh's production of "The Queen of Chinatown," in the title role and in this she was seen at the Bijou in Pittsburgh in the winter of 1900. When Mr. Bennett became ill in this city in January, 1901, Miss Biggar nursed him until his removal to Mercy hospital, where his leg was amputated, and since his return to Farmingdale she has taken entire charge of him and ministered to his wants.

Miss Biggar's parents are both dead, her father having died at Wilmington, Del., last December.

The Regal Shoe Store.

The headquarters for the renowned Regal shoes, which up to a recent period, had been located in Fifth avenue, has been transferred to No. 433 Wood street, alongside of Weldin's book store. The new store, while not quite as central, is in every sense as neat, perfect and commodious as the one formerly occupied.

Within comparative few years the Regal Shoe Company has attained a mighty lead over other shoe firms in this city. The popularity of the Regal shoe is steadily increasing everywhere. From the sandy borders of Maine to the golden gates of California, in every state of the union, the demand is for the Regal shoe. The wise and careful man will have no substitute. He recognizes the merits of the Regal make and is satisfied to stand by them. But those unacquainted with its merits will naturally prefer the question as to how this particular make of shoes has won such an immense tide of popularity. The answer is very simple. It's because the Regal is an honestly made and honestly represented shoe. It represents the best of workmanship and stock that the present market affords. In so far as style, fit, price and durability is concerned it leads them all. The manager of the local branch, Mr. Robert N. Sheafer, and his able corps of trained salesmen, will be pleased to demonstrate the merits of the Regal to anyone at any time.

YANKEE DEMAND FOR STEEL CAN'T BE SATISFIED

Startling Statement Made in London by One Familiar With the Trade.

ORDERS GOING TO EUROPE

Pittsburgh Manufacturers, Formerly of Carnegie Company, in England. Interview by Schwab Stirs Up the Germans to Wrath Again.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald.)

London, April 15.—"The demand for steel in the United States cannot begin to be supplied," was the startling declaration made to me tonight by a gentleman who is well known in the steel trade and is thoroughly familiar with every branch of the subject. "There is practically no steel in the United States," went on my informant. "There are stacks and stacks of orders to be filled, with no prospect in the sight of meeting the demand.

"Of course, an effort is being made to supply regular customers, but even then manufacturers are demanding to know for what purpose the steel is intended to be used. I think this state of things has been brought about by a failure of the railroad companies and structural iron workers to estimate at the proper time just how much steel they would need this year. Consequently, railroads find themselves running short of rails and others cannot get material for their building operations."

Pittsburghers in London.

I have seen several American steel men in London of late. Only last week Otis H. Childs, L. Abbott and Charles McKnight of Pittsburgh, who were in the Carnegie Company, were at the Carlton, where they had just come from Paris. There is little doubt that much steel is being bought here and on the continent for the American market.

BERLIN, April 15.—(Copyright Cable.)—Anti-American newspapers in Germany are scrambling over one another to show that they have not deserted their standards. An interview in which C. M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, informs a correspondent of the Kolnische Zeitung in New York that the United States will cut off Germany's iron export, first to East Asia and then to other markets, affords a welcome theme. This statement and many others are being used just now on the eve of the reassembling of the reichstag to create strong anti-American tariff sentiment.

Exploiting Philippine Scandal.

The Kreuz Zeitung devotes columns to the alleged cruelties inflicted by United States soldiers in the Philippines, and represents imperialism as marching onward. In fact, one searches the papers in vain, expecting to see any change in their attitude from that shown before Prince Henry's visit.

The rumored invitation to the prince of Wales stirs up a spirit of resentment here. It was expected, after the exposure of the attitude of Great Britain during the Spanish-American war, that the United States would feel itself drawn closer to Germany. Although it is denied that the crown prince will be sent to the United States in case the prince of Wales is entertained there, it is true that another mark of high respect is being planned to prevent another estrangement between the two countries.

MESHES OF THE LAW ARE GROWING TIGHTER.

The Police Officials Believe That Layten's Murderers Are Now in Custody.

The meshes of the law are tightening about the murderers of August J. Layten. Yesterday William J. Byers, Mrs. John McWilliams and her husband were committed to the Allegheny county jail to await the action of the grand jury. Information was made against Mrs. McWilliams and her husband by Detectives Charles McGovern and William Elmore and they were taken from the Central police station. During the morning the prisoners were closeted with Supts. Philip Demmel and John McAleese. They succeeded in extorting sufficient evidence from them to implicate them in the murder of Layten.

Standard's Earnings in Germany.

BERLIN, April 15.—In an article published today in the National Zeitung the earnings in 1901 of the two German branches of the Standard Oil Company are shown to have been 44½ and 38 per cent, respectively.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Thomas B. Moreland, Sr.

Thomas B. Moreland, Sr., one of the oldest and most prominent business men of the East End, died yesterday morning at 7 o'clock at his home, No. 218 North Highland avenue, of paralysis. Mr. Moreland was born in County Down, Ireland, 76 years ago. In 1850 he came to Pittsburgh, and after learning carriage building with Perry Wilson & Co., he engaged with the Phillips & Best Glass Company as bookkeeper. Eight years after coming to this city he formed a partnership with David Mitchell and the firm opened a livery and undertaking establishment in Penn avenue, where the Ralston public school building now stands. Later the firm moved to Liberty avenue, near the Union station, and in 1870 opened a branch office in the East End. Four years later the firm was dissolved, Mr. Moreland taking charge of the East End place and Mr. Mitchell the Liberty avenue establishment. Under his direction the East End business grew to be one of the largest of its kind in the county. Mr. Moreland was also interested in financial institutions and at the time of his death was a director in the Liberty National bank and the Dime Savings Fund and Loan association. He was also a director in the Newark (O.) Steel Company and a member of the East End board of trade. In 1858 Mr. Moreland married Miss Louise M. Thompson, who, with two sons, W. B. and T. B., Jr., and three daughters, Mrs. Porter, wife of Dr. John Porter of McKeesport; Mrs. J. H. Coleman and Mrs. J. H. Kerr of this city, survive. Mrs. Kerr is at present in Europe. Mr. Moreland was a charter member of East End council, No. 276, Royal Arcanum; East End lodge, No. 26, A. O. U. W.; East End conclave, No. 279, Independent Order of Heptasophs, and Pittsburgh lodge, No. 581, Knights of Honor. Two Met Death in Ohio River

TWO MEN DROWNED BY OVERTURNED SKIFF

STRUCKTOWBOATSWELL

Frail Craft Rowed Too Near The Ironsides in the Ohio River.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., April 15.—Late this afternoon four men from Warrenton, O., were rowing up the Ohio river to their home at Tiltonville, O. En route they sent their skiff into the swell of the towboat Ironsides and the frail craft was capsized.

John Venum and John Bonner climbed upon the overturned boat and were soon rescued. Harry Venum and George Barcas disregarded the warning of the others and struck out for the Ohio shore, 50 yards distant, but were overcome by cramps and drowned only a few feet from the shore.

An effort by seining is being made to recover the bodies, but so far without success.

WHEELING, W. VA., April 15.—(Special.)—In the criminal court this morning Judge Hugus rendered an exhaustive opinion declaring the indictments against the ten members of council for soliciting a $50,000 bribe for votes on the city railway franchise to have been legally drawn. Strike Closes Steel Mill.

ALTOONA, PA., April 15.—(Special.)—The laborers and stockers of the American Steel Hoop Company plant at Duncansville, this county, to the number of 40, went on strike today and as a consequence the entire plant has been forced to close down. The laborers now receive $1 15 per day, and demand $1 35. The stockers, who haul supplies, get $1 20 daily wages, and want $1 40. This throws out of work nearly 500 men. Nothing has been done yet to effect settlement.

THREE MEN KILLED BY A FAST TRAIN

Reading Royal Blue Flyer Caused Instant Death at Langhorne, Pa.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LANGHORNE, PA., April 15.—Three men were instantly killed by a Royal Blue flyer at Langhorne station on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad today. Two of them, Ralph D. Clark and Joseph White, painters in the employ of the railroad company, were ground to pieces and the other, William Bacon, a negro, was knocked a distance of 50 feet.

The express train bound for New York was over an hour late. It was due to pass Longhorne at 6:45 and passed through at 7:55 a. m. The painters were working on the eastbound track painting the dividing fence. Just as the express reached the station a coal train bound west passed through, deadening the sound of the approaching flyer. Clark and White continued their task and were ground against the fence.

At the end of the fence the driveway crosses, and here the colored man passed around the rear end of the coal train directly in front of the flyer. Clark and White resided in Philadelphia. Bacon lived in Fort Mitchell, Va. He came here with his brother to work at the Foulk & Long insitute.

Coal Workers End a Tedious Strike

MINERS END STRIKE IN CENTRAL FIELD

IT AFFECTED 10,000 MEN

Compromise Arranged With the Rochester & Pittsburgh Company.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DUBOIS, PA., April 15.—The Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal & Iron Company miners assembled in mass meeting at Punxsutawney this forenoon to hear the result of the compromise conference held yesterday by President John Mitchell of the national organization of the United Mine Workers of America and others with General Manager L. W. Robinson of the company.

Secretary Wilson explained to the mass meeting the nature of the compromise recommended by the conference and the men accepted it by a vote of nearly two to one, and the present arrangement is to return to work next Thursday.

The terms are substantially the same as proposed at Indianapolis. The slight modification pertained to pushing cars at one or two mines, where it is agreed the company is to furnish additional help.

The men of the Jefferson & Clearfield Coal & Iron Company, also under the general management of Mr. Robinson, will take action similar to that taken by the morning meeting.

The proposition meets the miners' demands about half way. Mules and men to assist the miners with their cars are to be allowed in the Eleanora and Florence mines.

The strike caused the idleness of about 10,000 miners, besides a large number of railroad employes, who were thrown out of work because the mines were closed.

WITNESS MISSING.

Common Law Wife of Defendant in Murder Trial May Have Drowned Herself.

CHICAGO, April 15.—State Attorney Deneen today announced that Annie Berndt, one of the state's witnesses in the Toombs murder case, and her infant have been missing since Sunday. Mr. Deneen expressed a fear that the woman had plunged into the lake with her child. Detectives have looked every place where they thought the woman might be, but without finding her.

Miss Berndt lived on the steamer Peerless with Toombs as his wife. She left the boat about a week before the death of Carrie Larsen, for whose murder Toombs is undergoing a second trial. She was being kept at a hotel by the state. She expressed great dread of going on the witness stand again, and on several occasions is said to have declared that she wished that she might have suffered Carrie Larsen's fate.

[illegible]MEN ARE INTERESTED.

[illegible]Kees Rocks Bridge Bill Does Not Give Dimensions.

Rivermen are much disturbed over a bridge [illegible] that has passed congress granting the Western Bridge Company the right to erect [illegible] bridge across the Ohio river from a point [illegible] Preble avenue to the opposite side of the Ohio river at McKees Rocks. The bill does not state the height of the proposed bridge, or the width of the spans proposed, all of which the rivermen say are most essential.

Congressman Berry, who reported the bill back to the house, tacked on the following amendment, which rivermen aver suits them very much: "And the said company at its own expense shall make such changes in the said bridge as the secretary of war may at any time direct in the interests of navigation."

For some years past the rivermen have been endeavoring to have certain interests make alterations to some of the bridges spanning the Ohio river. The amendment offered by Mr. Berry, which has been incorporated in the bill, overcomes one point for which rivermen have been contending, and after the bridge is built, if the navigation interests demand certain changes, the secretary of war can, if he sees fit, order such changes to be made.

DAVIS ISLAND DAM—The stage of water at 9 o'clock last night was 11.1 feet and falling.

News of the Rivers.

The towboat Oakland, owned by C. Jutte & Co., which is on her way to Louisville with a tow of five loaded model barges, will return south about the middle of next week.

Jones & Laughlins, Ltd., now mine every month 3,500,000 bushels of coal. This fuel is consumed at the mills of the firm and at their coke ovens, the latter taking the majority of it.

Theodore Poe, of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati packet line, has gone to Georgetown, Pa., to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Parr, the wife of Capt. Andrew Parr, who will be buried today.

It is said that the towboat J. B. Finley is a much better shover than the Joseph B. Williams, but that the latter is a better backer and handler. This is the opinion of pilots who have been on both boats.

French's floating theater, which is on her way north, will come to Pittsburgh and make a tour of the Monongahela valley. The craft is a new one, it having replaced the showboat burned in the south last year.

The towboat John A. Wood, when she left Louisville Sunday for New Orleans, had in her tow eight square iron barges, three model barges and 20 coalboats. Her pilots are Charles Nadel and William Haptonstall.

Formerly Wheeling was known as the Nail City, and thousands of barrels of nails were shipped from it. Now nearly every boat that touches that wharf has a consignment of nails for that city and they arrive in many hundreds of kegs weekly.

The J. B. Finley, it is said, will take a record breaking tow out of Louisville on her next trip.

Capt. John T. Case is now assistant to Capt. Max Sebold, who has charge of the movements of the coal combination south of Louisville. Capt. Sebold is regarded as one of the best river transportation men in the business and is popular among the steamboatmen.

Rivermen still discuss with considerable interest a site for the new marine hospital. The majority of the rivermen spoken to on the subject favor the purchase of the Homeopathic hospital, if it can be bought. It is looked upon as the most available site yet mentioned.

Capt. Warren Elsey yesterday received a renewal of his pilot's license. The captain has not steamboated on the Ohio for several years, but he intends to keep up his papers. His license permits him to pilot between Pittsburgh and Louisville, and on the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers as well.

Capt. John F. Klein has been elected manager of the Pittsburgh Dredging & Construction Company, he having sold out his towboat interests to that concern. The Dilworth Dredging Company and Alexander McClure & Son also put their river craft into the business. Capt. Klein will continue to manage his excursion business as usual.

The towboats Coal City and Ed Roberts yesterday got away for the south, with their tows of coal, and the Hornet, Iron Age and Joseph Walton will likely follow. These boats are due in port with empties. The rivers continue to fall, there being 11.1 feet in the Pittsburgh harbor last night. The Budd Company will not be able to get the Harvester out until tomorrow.

It is said that John H. Jones, in discussing the river coal trade with some of his river friends recently, said that within the next seven years he will be back in the business. He is reported to have said that he will have the finest line of river steamers that was ever built. Mr. Jones, when he sold out his river coal interests, agreed to remain out of that branch of the trade for 10 years. He is said to hold many thousand acres of coal lands.

No cures to report, no long record of testing, nothing to give you confidence—but talk, all talk. That's the truth about nearly all cough medicines. But there's a record of 60 years of cures back of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. And physicians endorse it, prescribe it for colds, bronchitis, and coughs of all kinds. Probably your own doctor does. Ask him. He knows all about it—has the formula.

"I know from personal experience that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine in the world for quickly breaking up a cough which has settled on the lungs."—D. C. SNEDEKER, Pine Hill, N. Y.

M'KINLEY MEMORIAL GETS PARIS BENEFIT

A Large and Distinguished Audience Attends Matinee Performance.

BIG FINANCIAL SUCCESS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, April 15.—The gala matinee performance at the Opera Comique today in aid of the fund for a memorial to the late President McKinley at Canton, was a great artistic and financial success. The program consisted of selections and scenes from operas and plays, recitations and a ballet, in which appeared the leading members of the companies of the Opera Comique and the opera, the three Coquelins, Sarah Bernhardt, Mme. Fugere and Mme. Rejane. At the close of the performance "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung beautifully by Ellen Beach Yaw of San Francisco, and the "Marseillaise." All the artists were warmly applauded and there were many recalls.

The United States ambassador, Gen. Horace Porter, received President Loubet at the entrance of the building and conducted him to the presidential box, which was elaborately decorated with American and French flags, flowers and the arms of the United States, as were the boxes occupied by Gen. and Mrs. Porter and J. K. Gowdy, the United States consul general, and Mrs. Gowdy.

The large audience present included Robert S. McCormick, the United States minister to Austria-Hungary; the duchess of Dino, Jean de Reszke and W. K. Vanderbilt, as well as most of the resident Americans and many Parisians.

The performance added over 20,000 francs to the Paris McKinley memorial fund, which now exceeds 50,000 francs.

Two Officers and Nine Blue-Jackets Meet Death on British Battleship.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

The breach of the gun blew out after it had twice missed fire. The bodies of the two men who were sighting the gun were blown overboard. The injured seamen were brought ashore here today.

EXPECT SOUTH AFRICA TO HELP PAY FOR WAR

Hicks-Beach Thinks Subdued Republics Will Furnish Revenue.

BIG LOAN IS AUTHORIZED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, April 15.—The resolution in the house of commons providing for a loan of £32,000,000 was adopted by 229 to 105 votes. The loan is to be raised by an issue of 2¾ per cent consols.

During the course of the debate in the house of commons today on the resolution authorizing the loan, the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, said both the Transvaal and Orange River colonies would be able to share in the cost of the war. He could not announce the amount definitely, but he believed that within a few years certain sources of revenue, representing a capital of the value of £30,000,000 would be set aside for this purpose.

Regarding the reports of differences between himself and the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, the chancellor of the exchequer admitted they had a little difference of opinion.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt (Liberal) characterized Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's expectation of Transvaal revenue as "golden dreams" useful only for floating fresh mining companies. The speaker declared the government lacked the moral courage to put the war tax on the present generation who were responsible for the war and proposed to lay the burden on posterity.

The budget proposals presented to the house of commons yesterday were received fairly well on the stock exchange today where the various departments developed no particular feature, with the exception of a drop in consols, on selling preparatory to the issue of the new loan, which operators generally seem to consider will take the form of a fresh issue of consols. Operators on the exchange continued to be hopeful as to the outcome of the peace conference at Pretoria.

A Princess in Jail.

CAPE TOWN, April 15.—Princess Radziwill, accused of forgery in connection with notes purporting to have been signed by the late Cecil Rhodes, was committed to jail today because of the withdrawal of her bondsmen from her bond. The trial of the princess is fixed to begin on Monday next.

HAVANA, April 15.—A fidelity company has filed a bond for $100,000 with the court as bail for the appearance of E. G. Rathbone, the former director of posts, on his appeal. This company's bond was refused when offered for the appearance of Mr. Rathbone when he was first sentenced, but his lawyers now insist that bail should be accepted.

THE NUMBER OF SALOONS TO BE LESS THIS YEAR

License Court Made Some Unexpected Changes Yesterday.

MUST CLOSE AT NIGHT

The Judges Insist That the Regulations Laid Down Last Year Must Be Lived Up To—Declare That Free Lunch Must Not Be Served.

The following table of retail licenses gives a comparison between those granted last year and this.

	1901			1902
	Applicants	Granted	Refused	Applicants	Granted	Held Over	Not Heard	Withdrawn	Dead	Refused
Pittsburgh	595	572	23	685	513	31	2	8	1	130
Allegheny	213	203	10	235	173	14	..	2	..	46
McKeesp't	79	73	6	90	59	7	..	..	..	24

All those held over or concerning whom stipulations were filed are to get their lincenses on the date fixed unless the court learns of some new objections. Practically this means that all the "held-overs" can be added to the "granted," but even with this the total will be short of last year's figures in each of the three cities of the county.

The court reaffirmed the rules handed down on April 15, 1899. These are:

First—All wholesalers and bottlers shall close their places of business not later than 7 o'clock each evening except Saturday, and not later than 9 o'clock on Saturday, and shall not open them before 6 a. m.

Second—All retail dealers shall keep their bars closed as follows:

In the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, from 11:45 p. m. to 5 o'clock a. m.

In the city of McKeesport from 11 p. m. to 5:30 o'clock a. m.

In the boroughs from 10:30 p. m. to 5:30 o'clock a. m.

In the townships from 10 p. m. to 5:30 o'clock a. m.

Third—During the time the bar is to remain closed as provided by rule 2, no malt, vinous or spirituous liquors shall be sold or furnished on the licensed premises.

Fourth—No free lunch shall be served by any licensee. The furnishing of crackers, cheese, and pretzels as a relish to patrons of the bar will not, however, be considered a violation of this regulation, but the supply must not go beyond the articles mentioned.

Fifth—The violation or disregard of any of the above regulations will be considered as a sufficient ground for the refusal of further license to the offender.

The Pianola

The Only Perfect Piano Player

THE PIANOLA is a means of playing the piano. It is not the only means, but it is the simplest and the cheapest, the most comprehensive and complete, and is within the reach of everyone who can pay $250.

The other means is the human fingers, which must be trained to do just what the Pianola does—strike the right notes at the right times.

In either case the mind of the player directs the expression. It controls the human fingers and it controls the Pianola's felt-covered fingers.

The first question to be decided is, Would you like to play the piano? Second, Are your fingers trained, and how much are they trained? Third, How many selections can they play?

There is not a single case in which the answer is entirely satisfactory.

Paderewski has a Pianola, both at his Switzerland and Paris homes. Sauer has a Pianola. Hofmann and Rosenthal have these piano-playing assistants.

If you either play or wish to play the piano, it will be worth considerable of your time to investigate the Pianola. [illegible]

The Pianola will enable you to play, irrespective of musical training, any piece of piano music ever composed,—Chopin's Ballad in A Flat, Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata, Schubert's Serenade, Moszkowski's Waltzes or selections from the latest grand and light operas. The Pianola furnishes an ever-ready accompanist for dancing.

Pirates Gave St. Joe Team an Awful Drubbing

CLARKE'S MEN SCORE AT WILL AGAINST ST. JOE

Champions' Heavy Batting Streak Proved Missouri Team's Waterloo.

POOLE PITCHES WELL

Doheny Started In and Was Relieved by the Wheeling Boy After the Fifth Inning—Pirates Do Well at Traps.

By JAMES M. NELLIS.
Staff Correspondent.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 15.—The champion Pirates made their final appearance here this afternoon, and the occasion was made a memorable one, as the local team was given a walloping it will not forget in a hurry. The final score was 17 to 2, and the only reason Clarke's men ceased making runs was the shortness of time left to catch the train for St. Louis, where they are booked to open the championship season on Thursday.

The weather conditions were not very favorable toward ball playing. The sun was out all right, but its warmth was carried away by a cold breeze which swept over the ball park.

Weather Keeps Crowd Down.

This weather was the cause of keeping the crowd of spectators down to a mere handful, so that the ardent followers of the Western league team were spared the humiliation of participating in their team's Waterloo.

Manager Clarke had given his players orders not to exert themselves too much, but these orders were cast to the wind so far as they referred to hitting and running the bases.

The Saints first produced Barney McFadden as their twirler, and what the Pirates did to him was a shame. They batted his curves all over the lot, worked the hit-and-run game and turned so many tricks that Mr. McFadden took to the tall timbers at the end of the fourth inning, and is probably sorry that the league leaders ever took a notion to pay this town a visit.

Maupin Relieves McFadden.

Maupin came to the relief in the fifth inning, and he also was given a trimming that made him heartsick, and he would have been glad to retire, but the Saints had no other twirler handy to take his place.

Eddy Doheny pitched the first five innings for the Pirates, and the locals managed to get five hits and two runs while he occupied the box. Doheny had orders from his manager not to let his arm out, as there was danger from the cold, and he pitched nothing but straight balls.

Eddie Poole pitched the last four innings, and let the Saints down without a hit or a run.

Pirates' Fast Game.

The champions put up a fast game in the field, as well as at the bat and on the bases, and their rapid field work was loudly cheered by the small crowd of spectators.

This morning a number of the players headed by Manager Clarke accepted the invitation of the trap experts and visited the race grounds, where a big shoot is being held.

The players took part in three events at 15 birds each, and the work of Sam Leever with the gun rather astonished the experts. In the first event Leever could not get going right, but in the next two he broke 14 out of 15 clay birds, and was applauded and congratulated by such well-known trap experts as Fred Gilbert, J. R. Elliott, C. W. Budd and Jack Fanning. The players also had a successful hunt for wild ducks. Score:

Notes of the Game.

In the ninth inning today Hans Wagner batted left handed and smashed out a single to middle field. There seems to be nothing in a baseball way the Carnegie boy cannot do.

Chief Zimmer drove a liner to the left field fence this afternoon that should have been good for three bases, but the chief was too tired to run, and got no farther than first.

Tommy Leach came close to repeating his Hot Springs bunting experience, when he got a black eye. Tommy bunted in the second inning today and the ball bounded back and struck him on the ear.

Manager Clarke has changed his mind again and is likely to start the season with his old team, which means Wagner at short and Beaumont in middle field. Conroy's work has been more than satisfactory, but Clarke is a bit superstitious and doesn't care to make a change just at present.

There was a peculiar play today which had the players guessing. It happened in the fifth inning, when St. Joe was at bat. There was a runner on first and a man at the bat hit the ball which the pitcher barely stopped. The umpire was back of the pitcher and the ball struck him, then glanced to Wagner, who fielded it to second ahead of one runner. Ritchie sent it to first in time to head off the batter. It looked like a clear double play, but the umpire called both men safe on the ground that the ball hit him and by the rules a runner is entitled to a base under such conditions. Capt. Clarke agreed that ruling was right, but said it was a case of tough luck which spoiled a nice double play.

COLLEGE TEAM BEAT HIGH SCHOOL

IN FIRST INTERSCHOLASTIC GAME P. H. S. WAS WHITEWASHED.

Work of Collegian's Pitchers Was a Feature of the Contest—High School's Battery Was Very Weak, and Team Could Not Hit.

The first local interscholastic baseball game between Pittsburgh college and Pittsburgh High school at the college grounds yesterday afternoon resulted in a victory for the collegians by a score of 8 to 0.

The pitching of Gapen and Kilgallen was the feature of the contest. The former struck out 14 men and the latter 4. Frankenberry put up a good game behind the bat, having 18 putouts and 3 assists to his credit.

High School lost the game on account of its inability to hit at the proper time and the indifferent work of its battery. The game was clean throughout, and, although rather one-sided, a pretty contest to witness. The score:

CHAS. B. POWER FOR PRESIDENT

PITTSBURGHER MAY BE SELECTED FOR HEAD OF WESTERN LEAGUE.

Has Been Highly Recommended for the Position by Several of the Leading Baseball Men of the Country—Would Acceptably Fill the Place.

At a meeting of the officials of the Western baseball league to be held at St. Joseph, Mo., today Charles B. Power of Pittsburgh will in all probability be chosen president of the organization to succeed James Whitfield, who committed suicide last week. While the office has not as yet been tendered the Pittsburgher he has been highly recommended for it by several of the most prominent baseball men in the country and all chances favor his election.

The first notification Mr. Power had that his name had been mentioned in connection with the office was by letter from C. D. White of Chicago, A. G. Spalding's representative, received yesterday. Mr. White stated he had been proposed as a candidate for the office, but business compelled him to decline and he informed Mr. Power he had suggested his name to the officials.

Manager-Captain Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh National league team also suggested the name of Mr. Power to President Van Brunt of the St. Joseph team yesterday, and the St. Joe club owner thinks very well of the suggestion.

Mr. Power, when seen at his home in Ward street, Oakland, last night, said the office had not been tendered him and he knew nothing of Manager-Captain Clarke's recommendation.

The selection of Charles B. Power for the presidency of the Western league would be one of the wisest moves western baseball men could possibly take. He is eminently fitted for the position in every respect. He has been connected with baseball for the past 15 years and has served in almost every capacity from player to manager.

He began his career with the Northwestern league about 1887 and was manager of the Galesburg (Ill.) team several years after. He was later an umpire in the Northwestern league and served in the National in the same capacity.

Last year Mr. Power was elected president of the American association, which organization was absorbed by the National league. He has been for the past four years president of the Interstate league. Mr. Power is one of the best-known newspaper men in Pittsburgh, and is connected with a prominent afternoon paper.

POOR OPENING STOCK.

Center County Fishermen Attribute Lack of Trout to Cold Weather.

BELLEFONTE, PA., April 15.—(Special.)—The opening of the trout season here today was marked with the poorest catch ever known on a first day in Center county. All told the catch would not exceed several hundred and in addition the trout were small, the average size being about seven inches, while the largest were 10 inches.

From daylight to late this evening scores of the best fishermen in Bellefonte tramped miles along the finest trout streams in the county, only to come home with from five to ten small trout. The poor luck is ascribed to cold weather, the cold water and high streams.

Assistant Football Manager Chosen.

WASHINGTON, PA., April 15.—(Special.)—The athletic committee at Washington and Jefferson college tonight elected John S. Fifty to One Shot Captured the Fifth Event—Bookmakers at the Race Track Did an Enormous Business.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 15.—The Metropolitan racing season for 1902 was formally opened at Aqueduct today. A big crowd was in attendance and the weather conditions were excellent.

Daly and first choice in the betting was at no time dangerous, finishing away back in the ruck.

Nine candidates faced the starter with Himself favorite at 7 to 5 and Contend a strong second choice. Margraviate was well supported, at 10 to 1. After a few moments delay at the post they were sent away to a good start. Margraviate was first to show with Redpath second, Eddie Busch third, the rest close up. JOHN SCHORR'S VICTORY.

His Clever Filly, Flora Pomona, Captured Tennessee Oaks Race at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 15.—John Schorr scored a victory today by winning the Tennessee Oaks at one mile, with his 3-year-old filly Flora Pomona. The Schorr horse was always favorite in the betting, while Marque and Wainamoinen were held at fours. Autumn Leaves and Our Jessie were at long odds.

The start was excellent, the five contenders being on even terms when the barrier went up. Wainamoinen showed in front at the first quarter, but turning down the back stretch Autumn Leaves assumed command and closely followed by Wainamoinen and Flora Pomona set the pace to the head of the stretch. At this point Marque moved up rapidly and at the sixteenth pole was leading by a length. Woods shook Flora Pomona up a trifle and the filly drew away, winning by half a length from Marque, who beat Wainamoinen half a length for second money. The race was worth a little more than $3,000 to the owner. Summary:

First race, selling, 6 furlongs—Red Hook, 107, Robertson, 5 to 1, won; Harry New, 107, Winkfield, 11 to 5, second; Charles W. Meyer, 107, J. Woods, even, third. Time, 1:14¼. Julia Junkin, Blue Mint, Navillus, Harry Shafer and Cork also ran.

BALTIMORE MAY REJECT ALL BIDS

BILL PREPARING WHICH MAY PASS OVER MAYOR'S VETO.

It Provides for Sale of Railroad at an Upset Price of $10,000,000—Mayor's Ordinance Deftly Drawn to Shut Out All Bids but Fullers'.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, MD., April 15.—It was said late tonight that an ordinance will be introduced in the city council next Monday night rejecting all of the bids for the city's holdings in the Western Maryland railroad, and providing for a sale of the railroad at public auction at an upset price of $10,000,000. This ordinance, it was said, will receive the support of the Republicans, and possibly all of the Democrats. It was also predicted that it can be passed over the possible veto of Mayor Hayes.

Notwithstanding the action of the city council on Monday, ordering all bids for the city's holdings in the Western Maryland railroad to be reported to that body next Monday evening, a strong and concerted effort is being made to get a majority of the city council committee in line for Mayor Hayes' ordinance in favor of the Fuller syndicate before 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when the committee will hold another meeting. The desire of the Fuller advocates is to have that syndicate's bid go to the council on Monday with the sanction of at least a majority of the committee. This, these advocates hope, will secure the passage of the mayor's Fuller syndicate ordinance before the end of next week should the council hold to its decision to meet every day until the question can be disposed of.

An official of the municipal government ventured the assertion today that the ordinance as drawn deftly excludes every bidder except the Fuller syndicate. The ordinance seems to exclude all but the Fullers because of its provision that the Western Maryland must be connected with the West Virginia Central, which is entirely controlled by the Fuller syndicate.

It is doubtful if Mayor Hayes will approve of any other ordinance even though it may be passed by the council. Mr. Hayes wants the Western Maryland railroad sold in his own way. If the council fails to come around to his way of thinking there may be a speedy sale under foreclosure proceedings.

DR. TALMAGE'S REMAINS TAKEN TO BROOKLYN

At the Simple Funeral Ceremony Eminent Brother Ministers Eulogize the Departed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—Funeral services were held at the Church of the Covenant this afternoon over the body of the Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage. The Rev. Dr. Teunis S. Hamlin, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, and the Rev. Drs. Thomas Chalmers Easton of this city, S. J. Nicols and James Demarest, both of Brooklyn, officiated.

Over the casket was a massive bed of violets. The floral offerings were numerous, mostly of lilies of the valley and white roses, including a wreath sent from the White House by the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The members of the stricken family occupied pews on the right, while across the aisle from them were the honorary pallbearers, Justices Harlan and Brewer of the United States supreme court; Senators Cullom of Illinois, Burrows of Michigan and Dolliver of Iowa; Representative William Alden Smith of Michigan; ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, the Rev. Drs. Louis Klopsch of New York and Bittinger and Fiske of this city; Dr. G. L. Magruder of this city; E. H. Branch and F. M. Lawrence, lifelong Brooklyn friends of the dead minister, and B. H. Warner of this city.

After the family had entered the male quartet sang, "Lead, Kindly Light," a favorite hymn of Dr. Talmage, and during the service sang "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping," and "It Is Well With My Soul."

Dr. Hamlin, in his address, pictured Dr. Talmage as one of the great clergymen of the century. He said Dr. Talmage, in his marvelous word pictures, always bespoke hope and cheer; that he aimed at the hearts and emotions of the people instead of at their intellect.

Dr. Demarest referred to the student life of the deceased. He said Dr. Talmage sometimes had been charged with being sensational, but he was sensational because he must be, and it was natural. He had in his early college life shown the same marks of brilliant, meteoric genius that won his way through great achievements in the later life.

Dr. Easton protested that it is yet too early to measure Dr. Talmage; that death clears our vision, removes or minimizes our prejudices and reduces the supposed faults. He said Dr. Talmage was made of the stock from which martyrs spring, and that no man had lived so apostolic a life since the days of Paul. He said that Beecher, Spurgeon and Talmage were the three greatest preachers of the century, but that the last named was the prince of the pulpit.

Dr. Nicols referred to the dead man's philanthropic deeds, and characterized him as a brave heart and a noble soldier of the cross.

Dr. Hamlin closed the services with a prayer asking the divine mercy and consolation for the stricken family.

Then the immediate relatives, first Mrs. Talmage, leaning on the arm of the eldest son of the deceased, the Rev. Frank Talmage of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L Wyckoff of Utica, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Mangam of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Donnan of Richmond, and others of the family following, passed to their carriages. The casket remained in the church until late this evening, when it was placed on a special car attached to the Pennsylvania railroad train leaving here for New York at 12:10 a. m. The remains will be interred tomorrow morning at Greenwood cemetery in Brooklyn, after services conducted by the Rev. Dr. Howard Suydam of Rhinebeck, N. Y.

RECIPROCITY DISCUSSED BY MANUFACTURERS

National Association Begins Annual Convention at Indianapolis.

SOME NOTABLE SPEECHES

Former Mayor of Brooklyn Defends Congress from an Implied Charge of Incompetence — Department of Commerce Favored.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—The seventh annual convention of the National Association of the Manufacturers was called to order today in the hall of representatives, state house, by D. M. Parry of Indianapolis.

After welcome and responsive addresses were concluded President Search read his annual report. The discussion of President Search's address was taken up at the afternoon session after hearing reports from the treasurer and the bureau on trade and transportation. George J. Seabury, of New York city, opened the discussion, speaking to the part of the report on reciprocity.

Politics Should Be Barred.

Mr. Seabury did not believe there should be any politics in the question of reciprocity, and did not believe that any one man in the United States should undertake to formulate reciprocity treaties unless he were a thoroughly practical man. Continuing, he said:

"Our people are not in a position to comprehend these reciprocity treaties. Even our domestic manufacturers do not understand them. These questions should not be left to politicians, and I am not in favor of any congress dealing with them."

Protection for the Weak.

He did not think that the weakest industry should be annihilated by reason of the enactment of such treaties. "The tariff should be left alone," said he, "and when making a reciprocity treaty with a nation only such articles should be allowed to be entered free into this country as are produced here without fear of competition. I admit that I am perfectly willing to let down the tariff bars on all manufactured articles, but is it right for me, who am able to stand alone, to favor that which would bring untold ruin to other industries?"

Congressmen Are Shrewd.

Charles A. Schieren, ex-mayor of Brooklyn, replied to Mr. Seabury's remarks on politicians. He said:

"Do not make the mistake that representatives in congress do not understand anything. As a rule they are able men who are sent to congress. We now see a great muddle over the Cuban reciprocity treaty, and do you think that it would be settled sooner if it lay with the executive alone? It would not."

The part of the president's report regarding the establishment of a department of commerce was taken up. Gen. H. Barbour, of Detroit, made the first speech. Many members spoke urging the association to do all in its power to secure the passage of the bill now before congress.

Mr. B. W. Pearce, of Newport, R. I., Editor and Proprietor of the Newport Enterprise, cured by Gloria Tonic when 79 years old.
Mr. Pearce's Experience with "Gloria Tonic" in Detail.
Newport, R. I., April 1st, 1898.
JOHN A. SMITH:
Dear Sir—About three months ago I purchased 5 packages of your remedy (Gloria Tonic) with the intention of taking it. But about that time a daughter of mine came visiting me and declared against quack medicines and insisted that I should employ a doctor. I yielded against my own judgment, though I am 79 years old and should be expected to know something. She even expected me to throw the whole business down the sink spout. I didn't do that, and thank God I didn't. After the doctor had been coming a few weeks I showed him the medicine and asked him what he thought of it for rheumatism. He tested it and examined it, and said he detected nothing in it to hurt anybody. "Would you advise me to take it?" Yes, if I wanted to after I got through with his medicine. (He was doctoring me for another complaint). I began taking your medicine two weeks ago, could not raise my hand to my head nor could get them into my pocket, and could hardly feed myself. Had not been on the street for 4 months nor walked across the room without a cane, had to be lifted in and out of the cars when traveling. My left arm had been useless. Gave up business six months ago from disabilty caused by rheumatism. After taking Gloria Tonic a few days I was able to raise my hand and now I am able to walk without a cane and without limping. My friends regard it in the light of a miracle. Have done business in this city for 40 years and am well known, having been a printer and a publisher for half a century. Yours truly,
B. W. PEARCE.
4 Years Later.
Newport, R. I., March 10, 1902.
MR. JOHN A. SMITH:
Dear Sir—Your letter received and contents noted. You have full liberty to use the document with the following addition. About 4 years have elasped since the foregoing was written. I have not had a twinge of rheumatism in that time and the use of my limbs have considerably improved. I am now within a month 83 years of age. I am confined to the house by disabilty attributable to the natural infirmities of age, but am free from pain. B. W. PEARCE.
Late Proprietor of Newport Enterprise.

Full size package $1.00 at all druggists. Address JOHN A. SMITH, Dep't 3531 Germania Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

PILES EST. 1883.
CURE GUARANTEED.
Listen to the Logic of the Warner Way.
Science and skill have done much for sufferers. Surgery often succeeds where all else fails, but it can be misapplied. In the treatment of Rectal Diseases it is unnecessarily severe and rarely gives the best results. Dr. Warner argues against it with good reason. He sees both sides. As a Rectal specialist he knows effects. Scores of Rectal cases have come under his observation in which the knife had been resorted to, not to cure, but to aggravate the ailment. The physician meant well, but the method of cure was wrong in practice. The Warner Way cures, saves pain, saves time, saves expense and saves the patient. Don't you think it's worth knowing about if you suffer from PILES, FISTULA OR OTHER RECTAL DISEASE?

He deals in that direct way which is the result of experience in arranging transcontinental journeys. He has inducements to offer which are "worth while," and his courteous assistance does not end when tickets are bought. Specially selected tourist managers go through from Chicago to Pacific coast, attending to checking of baggage, pointing out scenery and places of interest, and giving the attention en route which makes the transcontinental trip comfortable and enjoyable. FOOLISH WORD SETTLES FATE OF A RAILROAD

Uttered by August Belmont, Gates Wreaks Revenge by Gobbling L. & N.

WALL STREET IS AMAZED

Very Much More Respect Now Felt for the Dashing Western Crowd of Bulls—Old Management Brilliantly Outwitted—Steel Report.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 15.—The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has raised the western contingent to a much higher plane in the estimation of professional Wall street. While it may not have increased the personal popularity of John W. Gates and his Waldorf associates, it certainly has strengthened their prestige.

In all the history of stock market railroad deals it would be hard to find a more interesting chapter than that which shall have to be written to explain how Mr. Gates and his associates seized control of the Louisville & Nashville railroad from under Mr. Belmont's nose. Various stories are current as to how the Gates party happened to conceive the brilliant stroke, and there is still considerable conflict of opinion, but it established that there was an element of personal animosity in it, which, although it may not have inspired the deal, certainly does heighten the satisfaction of the Gates party in having so brightly outwitted the old management of Louisville & Nashville.

Revenge for Calling Names.

The story is that August Belmont called Mr. Gates by a dreadful epithet and that when Mr. Gates heard about it he determined to have spectacular revenge. There is, perhaps, no more disgusted man in all Wall street today than August Belmont. The mistake he made, and the mistake, indeed, that has been more or less common in Wall street, was to regard John W. Gates as a mere speculative factor in the market having no more substantial designs than quick profits.

When L. & N. insiders not only sold 50,000 shares of new stock in advance of its being listed on the stock exchange, and also went heavily short of actual holdings, on the theory that the announcement of the new stock issues would break the market, they created a situation that has frequently existed in the stock market, but which never before was taken advantage of in so summary a manner.

Scooped Up $10,000,000 Profit.

It is doubtful even now if the Gates party really undertook the thing with the definite idea of getting control of L. & N., but if there was no intention to do this at the start the promptness with which the "westerners" arose daringly to an extraordinary occasion makes their work that much more remarkable.

It must have been a very profitable business, too, and although it is too early to venture estimates of what it has netted the Gates party, it probably will be no exaggeration to say that when the affair shall have been concluded a gain to those who bought control of Louisville & Nashville in the open market and sold it again privately will be very little short of $10,000,000.

Enthused the Bulls.

The happy conclusion of the Louisville & Nashville matter produced bullish enthusiasm throughout Wall street. This was reflected in the increased confidence everywhere apparent. There also was better inquiry from outside, and it is believed now that unless some unforeseen complication should develop, the stock market will broaden greatly.

Nothing is more attractive to the public than a big railroad deal, and here is one that two weeks ago was not dreamed of. The recovery of confidence in the stock market today was sharper for the fact that nervousness over the Louisville & Nashville had reached a point amounting almost to hysteria.

Money Outlook Bright.

Another interesting consideration in connection with the Louisville & Nashville business is that the big interests of the street obviously are confident as to the future of the monetary situation. The disgruntling experiences of the Belmont party have served to bring into clearer relief the peculiar conditions that lately have contributed so much to the success of pool operations in the market.

There once was a time when manipulation unsanctioned by inside interests was hazardous business; but recently it has been a common thing for "room" cliques and independent pools to take up a promising stock, lock away a few thousand shares, thus reducing the floating supply, and then advance its market price prodigiously. Inside interference is seldom offered, for the reason that insiders that grown afraid to risk their shares in the open market.

The explanation of this is simple enough. There are present in the market world of today various speculative parties possessed of almost unlimited wealth. They take no longer chances than some of their predecessors did, perhaps, but their chances are on a much larger scale even as their wealth is greater.

How Gates Outwitted Belmont.

The Flower crowd sold Rock Island, innocent that anybody coveted control, and the Moore party bought it. The Moore party now controls Rock Island. The Belmonts quite as innocently sold their Louisville & Nashville, and while they were wondering why the market failed to break the Gates party was getting control of their property.

Few companies are so big that they can risk letting a majority of their stock find its way into the open market, and the significance of this is that it keeps more actual stock in strong boxes than ever before, and so reduces the floating supply of share certificates. It will be remembered, perhaps, that in his testimony about the Northern Securities Company, Mr. Morgan said he believed that no coterie of financiers or speculators would attempt to get control of a company capitalized at $400,000,000. Mr. Morgan ought to know. His enemies came very near getting actual control of Northern Pacific at a time when the Morgan party thought its control was absolute.

Pennsylvania Steel Statement.

At its annual meeting today the Pennsylvania Steel Company made public a combined statement of earnings for the year ended December 31 last. It shows net earnings from operations of $2,879,272, to which there are added incidental receipts from rents, investments, etc., amounting to $323,559, making a gross income from all sources of $3,302,831. From this there is deducted interest on bonded and floating indebtedness amounting to $550,113, leaving a net income for the year of $2,652,718. There is written off for reserves and depreciation $491,211, leaving what is called "net gain of operating companies for 1901," $2,161,506. Out of this net gain the operating companies have paid dividends amounting to $1,150,750, which has gone into the treasury. The balance remaining has been carried to the credit of the profit and loss accounts of the various companies.

The amount charged to depreciation $491,211 41, is felt by the management to be ample. The meeting today was very brief, lasting only about 15 minutes. Out of a total of 272,000 shares, 240,000 were cast for Luther S. Bent, Arthur Brock, John Cassels, Evans R. Dick and George H. B. Martin for directors of serve three years.

864,500 Shares Southern Railway Traded In

SPECULATORS OFF ONCE MORE ON A NEW TACK

Interest Is Transferred from Louisville & Nashville to Southern Railway.

SALES BREAK THE RECORD

No Single Stock Ever Recorded So Many Transfers in One Day—Gates Pool Announces Purchase of Control of Louisville & Nashville.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 15.—The dimensions of the trading in Southern Railway stocks today eclipsed any ever before seen on the New York stock exchange. The total number of shares of the common stock outstanding is 1,200,000. The dealings recorded in the stock today were to the number of 864,500 shares. On April 24, 1901, Union Pacific was dealt in to the extent of 662,800 shares during the struggle between the Morgan and Harriman interests in the transcontinental field. That figure was far in excess of any previous day's dealings in a single stock until today. The tremendous volume of these dealings dwarfed the rest of the market and yet there were a number of other stocks in which the dealings were on a scale only seen during periods of great speculative activity.

L. & N.'s Preliminary Jump.

The opening in Southern railway was quiet enough and the opening bulge in Louisville & Nashville to nearly 4 points over last night awakened some momentary skepticism of the overnight reports of a settlement of the dispute for control of Louisville & Nashville. But the parties in interest were already in consultation when the stock market opened and there was a scurrying of brokers from the neighborhood of the consultation rooms. Immediately buying orders appeared in Southern railway for seemingly unlimited amounts of the stock. The movement in the stock did not become wild at any time, in spite of the extreme advance of 6¼ points to 40½.

The Struggle Is Ended.

The reactionary tendency of Louisville & Nashville was also a convincing demonstration that the struggle for that stock had terminated and the scramble to get out by the smaller operators who had followed the deal carried it down by successive stages to 125½. The last price, however, left it at 127, a net loss of only a point. Southern railway suffered at the last from the profit taking on the part of the professional element, which bought the stock recklessly, but were apparently not disposed to remain in it over night in face of the many possible contingencies still open in the situation. The reaction carried Southern railway back to 37¾ and it closed only ⅛ higher at a net gain of 3⅝. The preferred stock gained 3¼.

Morgan the Arbitrator.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Total sales 1,759,700 shares, 864,500 shares of which were Southern Railway.

Louisville & Nashville advances, but reacts later, losing a point on the day.

Illinois Central and Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville advanced in sympathy with Southern Railway.

Grangers and Pacifics stronger.

International Power advances nearly 12 points.

United States Steel common closed 41.

United States Steel preferred closed 93¼.

The extent of the public information when the stock market closed was contained in the formal statement by the Gates element that they had bought control of Louisville & Nashville and that they proposed to leave the settlement of the dispute to J. P. Morgan & Co. as arbiters. This was accepted as conclusive evidence that Southern railway would be benefited by the settlement. The heavy buying of that stock was by brokers usually employed by the inside interests. But the volume of the dealings was sufficient indication that everybody who could get orders executed shared in the buying. The movement in Illinois Central and in Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville were directly in sympathy with that of Southern railway. It is supposed that Illinois Central will be allowed to share in the benefit of the Louisville absorption and that Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville will possibly form a connecting link to Chicago.

Buying in St. Paul.

The very large buying of St. Paul was supposed to be due to a renewal of the campaign for a rise by the element which bought Louisville. There was some strength in the other grangers and Pacifics and in Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio. Amalgamated Copper advanced at one time over a point, but did not hold it. There were notable advances in specialties here and there, International Power rising nearly 12 points. But there were also points of weakness, and outside of the congested centers of activity there was not a notable demand for stocks. There was some stiffening of the money rate again, but the continued calmness of the money market through the day relieved the apprehension that was felt lest the enormous speculation should develop a stringency.

Borrowing Money Abroad.

The easing of the exchange market indicated that borrowing in foreign markets was being freely resorted to. General considerations received little attention. The market closed irregular under realizing.

The bond market was irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,990,000. United States 4s were all unchanged on the last call.

Good Fields in Southwestern Ohio

Southeastern Ohio has more attractions of interest to the general operator at the present time than West Virginia. The Unity Oil Company's Harper farm well near Jerusalem, Munroe county, is still holding up at 20 barrels an hour and flowing through the casing.

The cause for the well increasing its production from 150 barrels a day, as a pumper, was occasioned by the owners pulling the tubing and cleaning it out. When the tools were run the well began to flow and shows no signs of quitting.

In the Wilson Run district, near Rinards Mills, Washington county, the Carter Oil Company has also drilled in a good producer on the John Cline farm. It is this company's No. 3 on this farm and when drilled into the Big Injun sand started to flow at the rate of 15 barrels an hour and was keeping up the pace last evening.

In the shallow sand territory in Morgan county, Chester Hill district, the Southwestern Petroleum Company has completed its No. 7 on the J. A. Lowell farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper. In the same district Miller & Co. have completed a test well on the Joel Morris farm and have a duster in the shallow sand. The well was abandoned at 800 feet.

The West Virginia fields presented nothing outside of routine developments yesterday.

In the Sand Fork district, Lewis county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 15 on the James Mullady farm through the fifth sand and got a small increase in production. The well will make a 30-barrel producer.

One mile north of the fifth sand development on Indian Fork, Gilmer county, the South Penn Oil Company is drilling in the Gordon at its important test well on the Francis Collins farm. Nothing is expected at this location before reaching the fifth sand.

Northeast of the Salem district, on Grass run, Harrison county, the United States Oil Company has drilled its test well on the G. W. Williams farm through all sands and has a duster.

In the "Little Germany" district in Marshall county the Carter Oil Company's No. 1 on the Jacob Redfox farm is holding up at 240 barrels a day and is the only well in the district producing 100 or more barrels a day.

On the Volcano tract, Ritchie county, Clark & Hays have completed their No. 2 and have a producer in the salt sand at a depth of 800 feet. The well is located on the western edge of the upheaval and the oil is dark and about 32 gravity. The showing made by this well will be the incentive for some new work.

Near Stewart Station, Tyler county, R. L. Lamberton & Co. have drilled their No. 3 on the Mary C. Stewart farm through the Cow Run sand and have a duster.

In the Eureka district, Pleasants county, Tate & Patterson have completed their No. 16 on the E. N. Cook farm and have a duster in the first and second Cow Run sands.

In the Turkeyfoot extension, in Hancock county, LeComte, Garrett & Co. have completed their No. 6 on the S. Carson farm and have a 40-barrel producer.

In the Murdocksville extension, near Burgettstown, Washington county, Pa., Ferguson & Co. have completed their No. 4 on the Jackson farm and have a show for a fair producer.

Five miles northeast of Harmony, Butler county, the Sarber Oil Company's No. 1 on the Charles Warner farm is flowing at the rate of three barrels an hour from the 100-foot sand. North of this well 100 feet the Forest Oil Company is getting ready to drill its gasser on the Millman farm to the same level.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 15.—Brighter prospects are reported at Leadville. For several months mining of sulphide ores has languished because of the limited quantity the smelter trust would receive. This restriction almost brought about the closing of several mines, and one or two companies arranged to dispose of their output elsewhere. A new agreement has been effected with the trust whereby the A. M. W., Ibex and New Home have resumed shipments.

The Vindicator at Cripple Creek is still sacking high grade ore from the 900-foot workings of the main workings. Contrary to general report the rich ore streak that was opened several days ago in the upraise from this level has not played out and the values are maintaining unusual and extraordinary richness.

Another large chute has been opened on the west side of the Gold Sovereign, on Bull Hill, Victor, Col. It is four feet wide and values range from $30 to $80 gold.

A New York company has been organized to extend the main Sutro tunnel westward beyond its terminal point at the Savage shaft of the Comstock, through the west wall into Mount Davidson, seeking further ore developments in that direction and to extend the south lateral branch of the tunnel to the mines of American Flat and Silver City.

Kaslo, B. C., is excited over a rich gold strike on Copper creek, three miles above Lardo. The dirt yields 25 cents to the pan. A company has been formed to build a flume and a dam and make a thorough test of the discovery. Meanwhile prospectors are rushing in to stake claims.

The final payment on the War Eagle in Hawthorne district, Esmeralda county, Nev., has been made and the property is now in possession of the Hawthorne Gold Mining Company of Boston.

Some fine ore is showing in the Madrone quicksilver mine, in San Luis Obispo county, Cal. Specimens show 40 per cent quicksilver, or a valuation of $500 a ton; the average rock will run about $100 to the ton.

Miners from the Porcupine, in the Klondike, are staking claims in the Frazier creek country, where 40 cents a pan is being obtained on a high bar. It is believed that a district of great richness will be opened around Mush creek next season.

Another wonderful gold strike is reported from New Mexico. It is eight miles east of Barranca station, on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. The vein is 28 feet wide and of 28 assays the lowest is $36 17 and the highest $20,000 to the ton. The average is $250 gold to the ton. The quartz shows gold on the surface on a cropping over 20 feet wide. Already 100 men have rushed to the new camp.

The Metal Market.

Dealing in copper under the new rule was inaugurated today at the New York metal exchange. The trades amounted to 150 tons for July delivery at $11 20@11 15. It was considered that the trading was started under favorable conditions. The local market for copper was rather easy, but quiet and unchanged. Spot lake was quoted at 12¼c; electrolytic, 12⅛c asked, and casting, 12c asked. The London copper market closed 15s lower, with spot and futures at £53 2s 6d. The London tin market was 2s 6d higher, with spot at £126 17s 6d and futures at £124 10s. The local market ruled firmer, with spot at $28. Lead ruled steady and unchanged here at 4⅛c and London was unchanged at £11 11s 3d. Spelter was firm and unchanged here at $4 45; London gained 2 shillings, closing at £17 15s. Iron ruled steady and unchanged here and a trifle higher in English markets. Locally, pig iron warrants were nominal; No. 1 foundry, northern, $19 00@20 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $18 00@19 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $17 50@18 00; No. 1 foundry, southern soft, $17 50@18 00. Glasgow closed 54s 4d and Middlesboro at 48s 6d.

The Bears Get Another Trouncing

BRITISH DUTY ON CEREALS IS A BULL FACTOR

Bulge in Wheat Results from Combination of Bullish Circumstances.

CORN FOLLOWS LEADER

Shorts Were Badly Squeezed in the Late Advance—Effects of New Tax Measure Not Fully Understood. Decrease in Visible Reported.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, April 15.—Speculation in grains was of an erratic nature again today. Doubts as to the possible effect of the British import duties on breadstuffs mixed the wheat trade early, and other influences pressed prices down somewhat, while a break at St. Louis hurt corn here. Just before the close, however, wheat began to skyrocket and corn tailed after. May wheat closed 1½@1⅝c higher; May corn 1¼c up and May oats ½c advanced. Provisions gained a shade to 10c.

Early business in wheat was somewhat demoralized. The crowd did no know how to interpret the new British duties and early deals were a matter of guesswork. Rains had fallen west and inclined speculators to the bear side. Northwestern receipts, however, were almost nothing, and the cash demand at Minneapolis was much improved, because nearly everything was reported taken up.

Discrepancy in Cables.

Corn was weakening and as advices from London stated that buyers would pay the duties through August and after that the duties would be figured in the contracts the crowd turned to sell a little. May opened unchanged to a shade higher at 72⅝c to 72¾@72½c and sold off to 72c. There was a great discrepancy in cables, Liverpool early being as much as ⅝c higher and closing ½c lower. London prices ranged ⅝c lower to 2¼c higher. It was announced that colonial as well as foreign wheat must pay the tax. It was assumed by the trade that export business would be upset for some time because of the tax measures. After the weakness in corn wore away somewhat and the fair weather reports were offset to some degree by crop damage reports heavy buying set in.

Plenty of Bullish News.

Bradstreets reported a decrease of 3,364,000 bushels in the visible supply. Commission houses had good orders and shorts covered freely. The general sentiment turned very bullish and the open opinion prevailed that the slight wettings the winter crop is getting at times helps it but little. Late damage reports scared the crowd badly and in the half hour before the close May was shoved up 2c from its low price for the day and brought 74c. May closed strong, 1½@1⅝c higher at 73⅞c to 74c. Local receipts were 14 cars, one of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported only 30 cars, making a total for the three points of 134 cars, against 235 last week and 434 a year ago. Primary receipts were 251,000 bushels, compared to 369,000 bushels a year ago. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 262,000.

Corn Shorts Squeezed Again.

Corn shorts were subjected to hard squeezing process today. There was plenty of stuff for sale early on the break of 2c at St. Louis. The situation was almost the opposite of yesterday. Kansas City denied a report of a sale of 300,000 bushels cash there and the southwest turned weak generally. Although cash stocks were practically gone at the two southwestern markets there was not sufficient demand to keep prices up. The market was nervous most of the day, but gradually bears plucked up courage and began selling short. Then came the bulge in wheat and prices jumped upwards again as the short crowd tried to cover. Action was very irregular but the business transacted was not heavy. May corn opened ½c higher to ¼c lower, at 62½@62c, slumped to 61¼c, then advanced to 63c, where it closed strong, 1¼c higher than yesterday's close. Receipts were 52 cars.

Oats Active and Stronger.

Oats held to better prices in sympathy with other grains. There was fair buying of May and the new grade of July. Commission houses helped in a small advance. Local bears were not sellers, but trade was only moderately active and the larger receipts and better conditions for sown oats retarded advances somewhat. May sold between 42½@43c and closed firm, ½c higher, at the latter figure. Receipts were 232 cars.

Provisions were strong early on the bullish hog situation. Packers were large buyers of pork and ribs and the outside bought liberally for investment. Offerings, such as they were, came out principally for profits and were quickly taken up. Toward the close prices eased somewhat but the tone was generally strong. May pork sold at $17 00 and closed 10c up, at $16 92½; May lard closed a shade higher at $9 75@9 77½ and May ribs 5@7½c up at $9 17½@9 20.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 35 cars; corn, 40 cars; oats, 90 cars; hogs, 28,000 head.

The leadings futures, corrected by John D. Armstrong & Co., members Chicago board of trade, 209 Sixth street, range as follows:

NEW UNION FORMED.

The Ornamental and Structural Iron Workers Organized in This City Yesterday.

The International Association of Ornamental and Architectural Iron Workers was organized yesterday at Knights of Labor hall with the following officers: B. K. Duncan of Philadelphia, president; E. P. McMillen of Pittsburgh, vice president; T. W. Leillitner of Pittsburgh, secretary and treasurer; J. H. Perkins of Boston, G. E. Baltman of Rochester, N. Y.; T. Lindall of Toronto, Ont.; G. J. Lobsack of Cleveland, W. Bruce of Philadelphia and J. E. Thompson of Pittsburgh, general executive board.

The convention adopted a constitution and starts with an organization of 2,000 men. Organizers will be put in the field to extend this. Already nine or ten of the important cities of the country have organizations either perfected or forming. Through the organization yesterday headquarters will be in Pittsburgh.

By a vote practically unanimous it was decided that the organization will not affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. The bridge and structural iron workers, a kindred organization, stands in the same attitude, having withdrawn their affiliation from the general body at their last annual convention.

The Pittsburgh local of the new organization has already arranged a wage scale with employers to run until May 1, 1903. This provides for a rate of 40 cents an hour and an eight-hour day.

VOUCHERS DUPLICATED.

Retired Army Officer Court-Martialed at Detroit for Irregularities in His Accounts.

DETROIT, April 15.—Capt. Charles T. Witherell, U. S. A., retired, was tried by court-martial today at Ft. Wayne on the charge of duplicating his pay vouchers for November and December, 1901, and January, 1902. Lieut. Col. Charles G. Penny, Twenty-third infantry, was president of the court, and Maj. Charles McClure, Fourteenth infantry, commandant at Ft. Wayne, was judge advocate.

It is alleged that Capt. Witherell signed over his pay vouchers for the months in question to Louis Silverman, 40 Nassau street, New York, and that he then issued duplicates for each month, which he disposed of to three different persons here. He is charged with violating the thirteenth, sixty-first and sixty-second articles of war thereby.

Capt. Witherell's attorney, at the opening of the court, contended that his client's stipend from the government was not pay, but pension, and that therefore he was not amenable to court-martial for the alleged duplication. The contention was overruled by the court and a plea of not guilty was then entered. The verdict of the court will not be given out here, but will be sent to Gen. MacArthur, commandant of the department of the lakes.

Hardware Advances 20 Per Cent.

CLEVELAND, O., April 15.—The price of building hardware in this city has advanced 20 per cent. A further increase in price is also looked for by dealers, as well as an advance in all steel and iron goods. It is stated that the hardware combine recently organized is not responsible for the advance.

INSURANCE AGENTS QUIT.

They Insist Upon a Reorganization of the Vicksburg Fire Department.

VICKSBURG, MISS., April 15.—The fire insurance companies doing business here at a special meeting today and later all the local fire agents decided that they had suspended business. It is hoped that the second conference of the special agents, the cotton exchange, the board of trade and bankers may cause a reconsideration of this action. The trouble grows out of the failure of the city to reorganize the fire department, which, it is claimed, is incompetent. The companies demand a new fire chief and a general reorganization.

Local Stocks Were Fairly Active, but Prices Showed Irregularity

WINDOW GLASS WAS BOOMED ON BELGIUM STRIKE

The Common Stock Went Up $2 on Sales of Nearly Four Thousands Shares.

STEEL STOCKS WERE OFF

Lincoln National Bank Gained $2. Fire Proofing Quieter but Steady. Pittsburgh Coal Common Broke to 25—Ice Common Advanced to 14.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday opened dull and uninteresting, but before the close came it had become fairly active, and the brokers found a good deal to attend to. The volume of business increased to nearly 13,000 shares, a great portion of this number selling during the last hour. Prices were irregular, but the close was generally steady. The feature of the day was in American Window Glass common, which opened at 62 and moved along within a range of half a point until 2 o'clock, when it suddenly became very active and decidedly strong, the price jumping to 63¾, with a good demand still unsatisfied at the close. The finish was at 63¾ sales and bid for more, a gain of $2 for the day. The sales were nearly 4,000 shares. The preferred did not sell at all. The sudden advance in the common stock was attributed to a report that the Belgium glass workers had joined the strikers, which would leave the market practically to the companies in this country. In the belief that this would be a big thing for the American Window Glass Company the stock went up, and it was freely predicted that it would go to 100 before the boom wore off. In the other sales the chief activity was in the steel group, United States Steel common leading with 1,300 shares. The stock was rather heavy and closed ¼ lower at 41. The preferred sold over 600 shares and closed at 93⅛, a loss of ⅛. Crucible common sold nearly 900 shares, closing ¼ lower at 23. The preferred was less active, but ⅛ higher at 87⅛. Fire Proofing issues were not so active but closed fairly firm, the common ⅛ lower at 35⅛, and the preferred ¼ higher at 42¾. There was quite a slump in Pittsburgh Coal common, the stock breaking ⅝ to 25 on sales of not quite 400 shares. The preferred was dull and ¼ lower. River Coal issues each lost ⅛. Brewing stocks were steady but quiet. Philadelphia Company common declined ⅜ to 48¾ on sales of 1,050 shares. The Electrics were comparatively dull and rather heavy, but the changes in prices were slight. Switch common advanced ¼ to 94½. Consolidated Ice common was firmer and higher at 14 sales and bid. The statement was credited to a high official of the company yesterday that it was the intention when the new plant for the South Side was opened to pass the common dividend twice and then restore it in July, as the two suspensions would supply all the money necessary to equip that plant without a sacrifice of certain real estate holdings to get the money. The company is said now to be in splendid shape financially and in better condition to get its product out this summer than ever before, so that in July the common stock dividend will be resumed and thenceforth maintained. There was some attention paid the banking group and Lincoln National advanced $2 to $130. United Realty Trust was 2½ lower at 137, but afterward advanced to 138½ bid. The bond department had no sales and the changes in quotations were unimportant.

James Garfield Armstrong, one of Henry Sproul & Co.'s floor representatives on the Pittsburgh stock exchange, yesterday surprised his many friends and fellow brokers by having it announced on the exchange that he would be married last night. No one suspected Mr. Armstrong of such intentions, but all gave three cheers and wished him happiness. The bride was Miss Belle O. Taylor. Mr. Armstrong is one of the most popular and successful young brokers in the city and is universally liked.

John W. Gates announced yesterday afternoon that his crowd had bought the Louisville & Nashville railroad. He said: "We have purchased the control of the Louisville & Nashville. We did not buy it on speculation, but for investment, believing absolutely in the present and future of the property. There will be no corner in the stock. We have placed the entire matter in the hands of J. P. Morgan & Co., and requested them to act as arbitrators in the situation, because of the prominence of the property and the desire not to disturb in any way the general market conditions and because we know that they have no interest in the property or in the recent purchases."

The Dominion Iron and Steel Company has arranged to absorb the Dominion Coal Company. The steel company takes over all the properties and assets of the coal company, guaranteeing the shareholders 8 per cent upon a capitalization of $20,000,000. The common stock of the coal company stands at $15,000,000, but it has some bonds and preferred stock outstanding, and the leases provide that these bonds and stocks shall be retired by the issue to holders of $5,000,000 of the common stock of the company at 120, making the total capital stock issue of the coal company upon which the steel company is to pay 8 per cent, $20,000,000. The directors of the steel company decided to issue $5,000,000 of new stock and to offer it at 60 cents on the dollar pro rata to the present holders of the company's common stock. This issue has been underwritten by a syndicate of Canadian and American capitalists.

Yesterday was a good business day in grocery circles, but quotations were quiet and unchanged. Fruits and Produce.

There are large supplies of green stuff in the market, but prices are steady, although trade was less active yesterday than on Monday. Potatoes maintain their strong position, holders asking as much as $1 on track. Strawberries are firm at quotations, while tomatoes are a little easier. Squash and peas are holding their own at quotations. Apples are largely neglected, buyers purchasing slowly, consumptive demand declining.

Horse Market.

The auction sale of yesterday was largely attended by purchasers and the bidding was spirited and on a higher plane than it has yet reached this spring. Fully 100 horses were offered for sale and all found buyers, figures obtained averaging at least $10 a head above those of last week. This condition of affairs reflects accurately the situation in the retail market, where every nice day brings out seekers after horses, who are willing to pay fair prices for good stock. Dealers are confident of an active trade for the next few months.

1902 BEATEN BY 1901.

Pittsburgh Bank Exchanges for the Year to Date $34,000 Less Than a Year Ago.

The year 1902 to date in the Pittsburgh Clearing House association yesterday fell below the year 1901 to date in its total bank exchanges—the first time such a thing has happened since 1900—and early in that year at that. The local bank exchanges for yesterday were $986,315 60 less than those for the same day a year ago and the total to date of this year is $604,151,318 68. A year ago the total was $604,185,533 55, or just $34,214 91 more than the total for 1902. This year's exchanges are keeping up well, but owing to the abnormal activity in the real estate and stock markets a year ago do not compare so favorably. The money market in Pittsburgh continues rather mixed, being easy and firm in spots. The rate for call and time loans remains at 5@6 per cent. The official clearing house reports in detail for the days mentioned are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
Yesterday	$7,716,306 61	$944,321 50
Previous Tuesday	7,074,494 96	1,226,267 24
Last year	8,702,621 21	1,281,026 62
Yesterday's decrease	986,315 60

Large Numbers of Houses Projected for Early Building

SALE OF HOUSE IN NINETEENTH WARD FOR $18,500

It Is in Highland Avenue and Was Bought by Henry Wilhelm for a Home.

DOWNTOWN DEAL CLOSED

Two Twentieth Ward Transfers Amount to $21,000—Big Building Projects Nearly Rife—Bank Building and Church.

The Highland avenue residence of John Williams, the feed merchant, has been sold to Henry Wilhelm, manufacturer of upholstery, for $18,500. The sale was negotiated by the Valley Trust Company, which has disposed of a number of properties in this section within the past six months. The lot purchased is a large one, having a frontage of 60 feet and a depth of 120 feet. It is situated in the east side of Highland avenue, near Stanton avenue, Nineteenth ward. The residence is a 12-room colonial brick house handsomely finished and will be occupied by the purchaser as a home. This property is almost directly opposite the elegant homes of E. M. Bigelow, Col. George W. Elkins and D. P. Reighard. Property along Highland avenue is coming into favor more than ever this spring and prices are going up accordingly.

Leopold Vilsack the Buyer.

It appears by the closing of the deal yesterday that Leopold Vilsack was the purchaser of the James Mackey property at the northwest corner of Penn avenue and Ninth street, the sale of which was published in The Gazette several weeks ago. The deal was negotiated by James B. Lawler through W. A. Herron & Sons, and the consideration was $50,000. The lot purchased has a frontage of 20 feet in Penn avenue and extends back 80 feet along Ninth street to a 16-foot alley. The two-story brick building, now occupied by a saloon, is one of the landmarks in that part of the city, having been used as a hotel over 40 years ago.

A good sale of College avenue property was closed yesterday by Davies & Co. Through their agency J. S. Martin purchased from Mrs. Mary A. Kelly her residence in the east side of College avenue, near Elwood street, Twentieth ward, for $10,500. The lot measures 40x140 feet and the house is a 10-room reception hall brick structure, which it is understood the purchaser will occupy as a home.

Another Twentieth ward property has changed hands for $10,500, the purchaser being Eliza S. Miller, who secures title from George Lambert to an improved property, 50x100 feet in the east side of Fairmount avenue, near Friendship avenue.

Many Houses Proposed.

That the building situation is improving is shown by the number and extent of the projects which are nearly ready for publication. One Fourth avenue broker has negotiations about concluded for a property on which the purchasers will erect 100 houses to cost at least $300,000. Another down-town broker has optioned a plot of frontage near the city which his clients will, if they secure it, improve with 150 houses. These are to be built in the East End district and will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000 each. Three other bunches, two of 50 houses each and one of 40 houses, will be started before May 1 if the deals which are pending for the property do not fall through. The average cost of these houses will be $2,800 each. The weather and the stiff demands of the labor unions, together with the high price of materials, have held back building, making the season much later than usual. If satisfactory agreements between the contractors and workmen are reached the first of May will see great activity to recover the lost time.

WITNESS GAVE A DISSERTATION ON DRINKING

John Canavan Amused Court and Spectators While Testifying.

FALSE ARREST CHARGED

James McGovern Alleged He Was Damaged by Officer Daniel Brady. Judge Stowe Refused Compulsory Non-Suit Asked.

A witness who was questioned as to his drinking habits created some amusement in common pleas court No. 1 yesterday during the trial of the case of James McGovern against Daniel Brady, an action to recover for alleged false arrest. McGovern was arrested for disorderly conduct and fined $25 and costs.

John Canavan, one of the witnesses, when placed upon the stand, was closely questioned by Attorney Joseph E. Stadtfeld, whereupon Canavan became angry and said:

"I am telling the truth and that's all about it."

Mr. Stadtfeld at once assured the witness that he did not doubt his veracity, and in the next breath asked Canavan if he had not been drinking previous to having entered the court house.

"I am on the stand and not on the drinking question," replied the witness.

The spectators laughed and Judge Stowe smiled. Then Mr. Stadtfeld asked:

"Were you before the bar this morning?"

"Yes, and it did not cost any other person anything, either," replied Canavan. He also acknowledged he had waited for a drink.

This settled the matter, and it was some time before order was restored. The jury is out. Attorneys A. H. Mercer and S. S. Robertson represented the plaintiff.

A compulsory non-suit was asked on the ground that the plaintiff had been convicted, but Judge Stowe thought it was a question for the jury because, he said, any person can accuse another of a crime or misdemeanor and the magistrate can take his choice of oath against oath, while subsequent evidence may show the accused was innocent.

Their schedule shows their liabilities to be $5,046 and assets $2,640. The court granted a restraining order prohibiting the execution creditors from selling the property which was advertised for sale.

The master in the divorce case of Thomas W. Price, a traveling salesman, against Rosa L. Price, of Washington, D. C., recommended a decree. Price came to this county about five years ago, and his wife refused to accompany him or live here. It was testified that she declared her brother, who lives at Washington, promised her an income as long as she remained away from her husband.

J. J. McHugh, assignee of Charles F. Lindow, filed a bill in equity against S. Ewart & Co. and William Gormley. The plaintiff owned a grocery store at 1301 Washington avenue, Allegheny. He was in debt, it is claimed, and he assigned his stock to Gormley for a nominal sum. Gormley assigned it to S. Ewart & Co., and it is now asked that the defendants be declared trustees of the property for Lindow's creditors.

In common pleas court No. 2 yesterday all the divorce cases, with the exception of that of Thomas Pender against Josephine E. Pender, which was postponed Monday until some time next week, were completed before Judge John D. Shafer. The cases heard yesterday were Jacob L. Crussler against Odessa D. Cussler, Mary Price against Louis Price, Charles S. Barclay against Rachel H. Barclay, Thomas O'Leary against Bertha O'Leary.

CHAMBER PREPARING FOR BALLOT REFORM

At a Meeting of the Committee Yesterday Clinton R. Woodruff Explained Proposed Act.

The committee on ballot reform of the chamber of commerce held a meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering a report to be made to the chamber on the measure to be presented to the next legislature for action. The members present were George W. Guthrie, chairman; W. S. Guffey, Oliver McClintock, W. M. Kennedy and George H. Anderson.

The committee agreed to take up the matter of personal registration under the bill authorized by the legislature. Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia was present and addressed the committee at some length, explaining the draft of an act providing for the registration of electors in cities of the first, second and third class and requiring certain registration in them as a condition to vote, with penalties for the violation of its provisions, which was prepared by a joint committee for the promotion of electoral reforms and the merit system in Pennsylvania, of which he is chairman.

The bill provides that the court of quarter sessions in each county shall direct the county commissioners to divide the wards of each city into registry districts of equal numbers as nearly as possible, each to contain not over 2,500 voters; they shall also on August 1 of each year appoint three registrars of electors for each district who shall meet at such place in their district as may be fixed by the court.

Each person claiming the right to vote shall state his full name, occupation, age, place of birth, time of residence in the state, election district, residence (which shall be described in detail), whether owner, lessee, lodger or boarder, character of tax paid and place of payment and to whom. Duplicates of these lists are to be given to the watchers of each party so that if any other than the one described shall attempt to vote on the same name he can immediately be detected.

At the conclusion of Mr. Woodruff's explanation of the bill, which he declared was a perfect safeguard to prevent repeating and the voting of persons illegally, the committee unanimously decided to recommend the bill to the chamber of commerce for approval. A resolution of thanks to Mr. Woodruff was then passed and the committee adjourned.

MEMBERS IN DOUBT ABOUT FILTRATION

Director McCandless' Figures on Its Cost May Lead to Delay in Councils.

Director McCandless' figures on the cost of filtration have caused surprise among councilmen. The fact that the projected plant will cost, according to his estimate, $1,000,000 more than is provided by the bond issue, has stirred up an adverse sentiment to filtration among some of the new members of councils. W. H. Stevenson of the common branch, who will be chairman of the finance committee, is one of the opponents of the idea. Mr. Stevenson says:

"I think it would be folly to take up filtration and award contracts when the estimate prepared by the public works department exceeds the money on hand by more than $1,000,000. We could only raise the extra million by direct taxation or another bond issue, and I do not think that the people of this city will vote any more money for a filtration system. I believe that the sentiment of the people of this city on this subject is changing and that a majority of them are opposed to beginning the work on a filtration plant when there is not enough money to pay for it.

"The situation in Philadelphia, where millions of dollars have been spent with nothing to show for it, should be a warning to the people of Pittsburgh. There are many different views on this subject and I believe that the question should be agitated so that the people of the city would be given an opportunity to voice their views. If the people want the work begun under present conditions it ought to be done, I presume, but I do not think that the people want it. It is a matter that ought to be carefully considered and I believe the new councils will not countenance any hasty action. I think that the deliberation will be careful and prolonged. There will be no snap judgment."

Another Western Union Change.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Charles A. Tinker, who for many years has been the general superintendent of the eastern division of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has resigned, to take effect May 1, and B. Brooks, superintendent at Denver, Col., has been promoted to fill the vacancy. The territory includes New England and the Middle states and Maryland.

Leafy Monuments for McKinley.

BISMARCK, N. D., April 15.—Gov. White in his Arbor day proclamation, designating Friday, May 9, as Arbor day, recommends that "An elm tree be lovingly planted and tenderly cared for on the grounds of every school and public institution of the state in honor of our martyred president, William McKinley."

SPECIAL REFERENCE TO LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Experts Outline Trend of Their Investigations for New Carnegie Polytechnic School.

"Our report will have special reference to Pittsburgh industries. There is no place on earth like Pittsburgh, and no school on earth will have such an equipment for education in the technical phase of the iron and steel industry as will the new polytechnic school."

The speaker was Prof. C. B. Connelly, superintendent of manual training in the Allegheny schools. He is one of the experts at work this week gathering material from which the committee on plan and scope for the new Carnegie polytechnic school is to make its report on the needs of the new school in the matter of apparatus and equipment.

The experts, including Prof. A. A. Hammerschlag of the New York Trade school, and Prof. W. L. Williston of Pratt institute, Brooklyn, spent yesterday visiting the machine works and electric plant of the Westinghouse interests, at East Pittsburgh and Wilmerding. They did not return until late in the afternoon.

Foreman and managers accompanied them, and the experts spent much time talking to the workmen themselves, in an effort to learn what would be the essential things in the teachings of practical Mechanics in the new school.
